

Firing Squad for Ringleaders

King Hassan Plotters Are Executed

KING HASSAN II DESCRIBES THE ABORTIVE COUP.
(UPI Cablephoto)

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The ringleaders in the attempt to overthrow King Hassan II were executed by a firing squad early today, official sources reported.

They said the names of the officers executed after a summary court-martial would be announced later.

The executions are continuing, they added, and it was not immediately clear whether all the six leading conspirators reported under arrest had been shot.

King Hassan told a news conference Sunday that the officers who led the attempted coup Saturday would all be dead by sundown tonight. He named eight principal plotters including four generals and three colonels.

Hassan said Gen. Mohamed Medbouh, the head of his personal military staff, and three other generals named Mustapha, Bougrine and Hamoui used 1,400 ignorant, drug-crazed cadets in an abortive attempt to liquidate him and the entire leadership of his regime.

Medbouh was accidentally killed by his own men during the attack at the king's summer palace on the Atlantic Ocean 15 miles south of Rabat. At least 30 of the guests at the king's 42nd birthday party were killed, including the country's only field marshal, three generals, the minister of tourism, the president of the supreme court, Belgian Ambassador Marcel Duprat and other officers and officials.

About 150 rebels died in a seven-hour battle for the Rabat radio station. The insurgents seized the radio, announced the king's death and proclaimed a revolutionary republic. But forces loyal to the king finally overcame the rebellion.

The four rebel generals named by the king were not known to have any leftist affiliations. Medbouh became Hassan's closest military advisor in 1963 when he betrayed a plot in which he said he pretended to take part.

The king said the "Libyan style coup" was inspired by the revolution in that North African country in September 1969, when young officers overthrew the monarchy while King Idris was out of the country. Col. Muammar Kadafi, the head of the Libyan military regime, threatened Saturday to send troops to Morocco to support the rebels. In reprisal, Hassan had his troops occupy the Libyan Embassy and put the embassy staff under house arrest pending their expulsion from the country.

But Algeria, Morocco's next-door neighbor, and Tunisia sided with Hassan. Algerian Minister of State Belkacem Cherif and Tunisian Foreign Minister Habib Bourguiba Jr. appeared at the news conference with the king, who expressed his gratitude for the support of their governments.

The attack caught the king and virtually all his ministers and top military advisors in the Skhirat palace for the birthday party. Hassan said the plotters distributed drugs to the troops and told them to attack the palace because the king was being held prisoner there by his own guests.

One of the guests at the palace, British Ambassador Thomas R. Shaw, said the rebels herded the guests around at gunpoint, made them lie face down on the gravel for an hour and took their gold cigarette lighters and other such luxury items and stamped on them.

"Finally the king appeared," he said. "It must have been about 5 o'clock. He was unhurt and as far as I could see was free. The soldiers cheered when they saw him and shouted, 'Long live the king!'"

Several hundred persons were wounded, including the king's brother, Prince Moulay Abdullah, who was shot in the arm, and the Saudi Arabian ambassador.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is due in Rabat July 25 on his round-the-world tour, and King Hassan said he is "still very welcome."

"There is no security problem," the king said, "but I will let him decide whether he still wants to come."

Two Lives Lost In Car Crashes Over Weekend

By WALTER S. CLARK

Accord Traffic accidents on New York State highways over the weekend took the lives of at least 11 persons including a Port Ewen woman and a Town of Poughkeepsie man. Several other persons were injured, some seriously as the result of area mishaps.

Three other persons died as the result of non-traffic accidents in the state, bringing the total accidental death toll to at least 14.

The worst motor vehicle crash in Ulster County occurred at 10:15 p.m. Sunday on Lucas Avenue at the intersection with Kysierke Road near this community in the Town of Rochester.

Fatally injured in the mishap was Mrs. Rose Osterhoudt, 37, of 150 Main Street, Port Ewen. Six other persons were injured in the crash which involved cars operated by Floyd A. Hull, 20, of Berne Road, Ellenville and Donald Fedden, 22, of East Kingston.

State Police Sergeant J.A. Fitzgerald and Trooper P.J. Brennan of Ellenville reported Mrs. Osterhoudt was a passenger in the Fedden vehicle at the time she suffered fatal injuries. The woman was taken to Kingston Hospital and later transferred by Fatum's Ambulance Service to Albany Medical Center where she later died of a fractured skull and other injuries.

Mrs. Osterhoudt's son, Roger, 9, was seriously injured in the collision. He was taken to Kingston Hospital and later removed to Albany Medical Center Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance Service. He suffered a depressed fracture of the skull and other injuries. His condition was listed as critical.

Other passengers in Fedden's car were Anne Osterhoudt, 20, of Port Ewen, who sustained lacerations and bruises, and Robert Sickler Jr., 21, of Hunter Street, Kingston, who received a fractured shoulder and bruises. He was taken to Kingston Hospital.

Fedden was treated at the Kingston Hospital for minor injuries. He was cited by State Police for driving while intoxicated, passing a stop sign, driving without a license and failure to wear corrective lenses. Fedden was arraigned before Ulster Town Justice Sherwood E. Davis and released in $500 bail pending a hearing.

Hull suffered lacerations of the head and arms. A passenger in his car, Russell Robbins, 16, of Ellenville, received a whiplash of the neck and lacerations of the knees and arms.

Troopers reported Hull's car was northbound on Lucas Avenue and Fedden, was traveling east on Kysierke Road when the East Kingston driver allegedly drove through a stop sign and his car crashed into the left side of Hull's vehicle.

The victim of the Dutchess County accident was identified by Town of Poughkeepsie Police as Arthur Nagel, II, 25, of Apartment 10J, Dutchess Apartments in Arlington.

A report of Town Detective Vincent Traver noted that Nagel was northbound on Taft Avenue at 3:05 a.m. Sunday, when the vehicle went out of control and hit and snapped off a utility pole and then continued on for some distance before stopping and heading in the opposite direction.

Archives — The VC Offer Anticipated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Viet Cong conditions for a Vietnam war settlement now being explored by U.S. negotiators in Paris were anticipated almost 3½ years ago in a confidential U.S. Central Intelligence Agency report.

"In talks, Communist terms would involve the establishment of a new coalition government which would in fact, if not in appearance, be under the domination of the Communists," said a CIA assessment intended for President Lyndon B. Johnson that never reached him. "Secondly, they would insist on a guaranteed withdrawal of U.S. forces within some precisely defined period," the assessment said.

Both conditions are part of a Vietnamese Communist proposal announced in Paris July 1. The assessment added that cessation of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and the start of peace negotiations without significant Communist concessions would create "a real risk that the Thieu-Ky regime would collapse, and this would in fact be part of Hanoi's calculations."

The assessment was disclosed in Pentagon papers released by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska. Differing from State and Defense department recommendations, the CIA estimates were at times ignored.

In this case, the CIA estimate never reached Johnson who had ordered a comprehensive reassessment of U.S. policy after the surprise Communist Tet offensive of February 1968.

While reducing forces in Vietnam, the U.S. is preparing to add more gunships in Thailand. . . Story Page 24.

The papers disclose another CIA contribution to the policy review was a report from an unidentified "high-level defector" who said Soviet aid to North Vietnam would be stepped up during 1968.

The report said the defector "confirms intelligence estimates that the USSR has not been able to use its aid program as a means of influencing North Vietnam's conduct of the war. In his opinion, the Chinese are a more influential power."

The defector, evidently a Russian, reported the Soviet Union would use force to maintain access to the major North Vietnam port of Haiphong. The bombing of Haiphong, where 80 per cent of the war supplies for Hanoi were received, was then under top-level consideration.

When the White House in early 1965 was about to permit

American forces in Vietnam to take an active combat role, the Pentagon study discloses, a memo from CIA director John A. McCone to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and White House advisor, McGeorge Bundy said in part:

"The decision to change the mission of our ground forces from one of advice and static defense to one of active combat operations . . . is correct only if North are sufficiently heavy and damaging really to hurt the North Vietnamese."

U.S. Planes Carry Out Retaliation Raid in North

SAIGON (UPI) — American planes bombed anti-aircraft batteries in North Vietnam in a retaliatory strike Sunday, destroying four guns and damaging three, military spokesmen said today. U.S. B52s flew raids south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The B52s struck at Communist troops concentrations and anti-aircraft sites on the slopes of Dong Ha mountain three miles northwest of Fire Base Fuller. Another B52 attack was made against anti-aircraft and storage sites 11 miles southeast of the old combat base at Khe Sanh in the northwestern corner of South Vietnam.

The U.S. command said another 3,100 American servicemen were pulled out of Vietnam, lowering the U.S. strength in the country to 236,400. The withdrawals have been proceeding ahead of schedule toward President Nixon's Dec. 1 goal of reduction to 184,000, but the rate has slowed markedly since the middle of June.

Communist ground fire shot down another OH6 observation helicopter in Quang Ngai Province 330 miles north of Saigon, wounding two crewmen.

It was the 1,976th allied helicopter shot down in Vietnam since U.S. involvement began in 1961.

The guns destroyed in the bombing raid into North Vietnam Sunday included an 85mm cannon capable of using radar to direct its fire, military spokesmen said.

The spokesmen said the U.S. planes bombed the Communist batteries 79 miles north of the DMZ and two miles from the Laotian border in a "protective reaction" strike because they had fired on another Phantom over Laos.

It was the 46th raid of the year on North Vietnamese anti-aircraft positions and the first time since May 10 that the U.S. command had announced that the targets were knocked out on while supporting a bombing mission over the Ho Chi Minh Trail was not hit.

Meanwhile, the families of some of the men being held prisoner in Vietnam, Saigon, have urged President Nixon to accept the Communists' latest peace offer, saying they fear the President is putting the safety of the Saigon government ahead of rescue of the POWs.

Six women, calling themselves "Families For Immediate Release" and claiming to represent many families besides themselves, appealed to Nixon in a letter delivered to the California White House last week.

The letter pointed out that the Communist proposal offered release of all American POWs simultaneously with a total U.S. withdrawal by year's end and the targets were knocked out on while supporting a bombing mission over the Ho Chi Minh Trail was not hit.

Peeking Into History at Hurley House Day

Visitors at the annual Hurley Stone House Day get a look at historic buildings in the hamlet. This year's event was "one of the best ever," according to all reports. Attendance was estimated at 2,200. Among those signing the register were visitors from Alaska, Hawaii, Japan, France, England and Germany. Under sunny skies,

Country Fair and Ulster Art Association features flourished. A flea market for the benefit of the Association for Retarded Children was conducted in conjunction with the day's activities. Mrs. Albert Byrne, general chairman, expressed satisfaction of the entire committee in the success of the event. (Freeman photo by Powell.)

Ringling Endorsement for Koenig

KOENIG (L) AND GALLO TEAM UP

KINGSTON Dr. Gerald P. Gorman had to leave the Democratic city convention early, due to emergency surgery at Kingston Hospital, but before his departure he gave incumbent Mayor Francis R. Koenig a ringing endorsement for reelection.

"There is no finer man, no finer candidate than Frank Koenig," Gorman, an incumbent legislator from Kingston, declared. "We have to reelect Frank Koenig. If he were not allowed to complete his second term."

Gorman's sudden departure led to some confusion at the convention. Originally, the county convention was to precede the city convention. However, Gorman had a 9 p.m. date with his patient.

So, Koenig was nominated first, the county convention was begun and completed, and then the city convention picked up

Gorman referred to Koenig as "an illustrious mayor," a hard worker, dedicated, experience leader. "I'm satisfied with Frank Koenig's record," he said. "I have never seen such dedication to the job of mayor. He works 10 to 12 hours a day and attends numerous functions nights and on weekends."

Koenig's nomination was seconded by Frank C. Sass who noted the candidate's "ability, popularity and experience."

The mayor, in "humbly accepting" the nomination, said, "Two years ago, when you honored me with the Democratic nomination for mayor I said 'We, the members of the Democratic party have an obligation and a duty to our fellow Kingstonians.'"

"I also said, if elected, I would do my utmost to give our residents and taxpayers an administration dedicated to sound fiscal policies; policies which could be emulated by other municipalities throughout the state and the country, especially so when taxpayers look to this type of administration today."

"Tonight I say we have met that obligation," Koenig said. "As a result of your dedication and the support of an extremely large majority of the people... we were successful in 1969."

"And now I solemnly pledge to you and again to all the people in our city of Kingston that if we are successful once more that we will continue the sound fiscal policies we pursued this first term and we shall continue our city on the road to progress."

Later in his address, the mayor said, "There is no question in my mind that there still remain important goals to be attained in our city. Not all of our hopes have been realized up to this moment. But I say to you, my fellow Democrats at this convention, that there is no one who can truthfully say that your mayor has not been a full time mayor. "There is no one who can fairly say that your mayor has not devoted his every energy on every day in a most sincere effort to bring about lasting benefits to all the residents of the city of Kingston."

Koenig then cited his family for its support of him during his 18 months in office and called for a sweeping Democratic victory in November.

Vincent G. Bradley, a Green Street attorney, nominated Koenig's running mate, T. Robert Gallo for alderman-at-large. Bradley said that Gallo had formed a team with Koenig "to bring good dedicated government to Kingston."

Florence Crosby seconded the nomination. Gallo, in his acceptance speech noted "the good honest form of good government this city has (under the Koenig administration) and this city deserves." He thanked the residents for their confidence in him.

The 13 aldermen came next with Edward M. Norton of the 11th Ward, majority leader of the Council, calling for the election of the entire slate. "You can't do a job with half a shovel," Norton said. "Unless the mayor has a majority in the Common Council the job is only half done."

Other nominees included John Coffee in the First Ward, Joseph McGrane in the Second Ward, Paul Mills in the Third Ward, Clarence Stoutenberg in the Fourth Ward; incumbents John E. Finch in the Fifth, Donald E. Quick in the Sixth, Michael S. Perry in the Seventh, Emilio A. Primo in the Eighth and Philip DeCicco in the Ninth; a new man—incumbent Clifford G. Sinsabaugh ("If you don't like the job I'm doing, vote for my opponent"). Norton and Peter J. Mancuso in the 12th.

The 13th Ward is vacant, at present for the Democrats. Anthony Erena Jr., of Pine Grove Avenue withdrew at the last moment, because, he said, he planned to move out of the ward. "This is a very hard, very sad thing," Chairman Lawrence Woerner told the convention. "We found a top notch candidate who was a sure winner. And now we've lost him. We'll just have to find another top notch candidate in that ward."

There had been rumors of nominations from the floor for county legislator but things went smoothly.

Joseph Stenson, chairman of a special committee which screened some 10 candidates for the three open posts for city legislator, noted the "exhausting unpopular task" of his committee. "Each candidate was a hard working Democrat and a distinguished member of our party," he said.

The three newcomers will be John P. Heitzman, incumbent First Ward Alderman not seeking reelection, James Carol, former 10th Ward supervisor and Lawrence Kithcart, chairman of the Kingston Recreation and Parks Commission.

Incumbents include James Gilpatrick, Orrie R. Riehl, William F. Edelmuth, William G. Davis and Dr. Gerald P. Gorman.

Woerner closed the convention in memory of three "distinguished Democrats" who died since the last convention: Mrs. Caroline Macdonald, Fred (Fritz) Genter and Sam N. Mann, the latter a water commissioner at the time of his death.

Democrats Nominate 'Their Man' Martin

KINGSTON The Democrats may have been the last party to nominate Sheriff William B. Martin for reelection this year, but they were the first party to nominate him nine years ago.

"We, the Democrats of Ulster County, gave this man to Ulster County and I don't want anyone to forget it," City Democratic Chairman Lawrence E. Woerner, declared at the city-county Democratic Convention in the Municipal Auditorium on Broadway Saturday night. "I nominate OUR man Bill Martin, for sheriff."

Sheriff Martin has already been nominated by the Republicans, Conservatives and Liberals. The first nomination, Saturday night, was by County Chairman Aaron E. Klein. Klein termed Martin's four-party endorsement "the greatest triumph of the Democratic Party in the county, pretty near anywhere."

"After six glorious years of service he is now the candidate of all four parties," Klein declared. And then speaking of the Republicans Klein said, "Having seen the impossibility of unseating him, they have clutched him to their bosom. It is a great compliment. We have all come together to support our wonderful candidate."

The nomination was seconded by Roger Mabie of Esopus. Martin, for his part, termed the four-party designation "a gratifying endorsement" of his efforts to serve all the people. "Law enforcement is defeated by bad politics," Martin said. "The Democrats have always given me a free hand."

Following Martin's nomination, Klein, as chairman of the county convention, called for nominations from the floor for the post of county coroner. He asked twice. There were none. A committee on vacancies made up of Klein, Woerner and Rose Hogan, county vice-chairman, is expected to come up with a candidate.

The list of legislative candidates from the county was also incomplete at convention time. There were no nominees from District Nine which includes the towns of Shawangunk, Plattekill, Marlboro and Lloyd and District 11 which includes the towns of Rochester, Denning, Hardenburgh and Olive. District nine is allowed five. Klein said that the town committees would pick the candidates and the county Committee on Vacancies would abide by their wishes.

Nominated to run from the First District (Saugerties) were incumbents Paul Brazier, and Richard Thornton along with Harry Anders and Walter Keefe.

Nominated from District Two which includes the towns of Hurley, Kingston, Ulster and Marlborough were Edward Langton, Howard Rust, Fred Hunel, Trudi Pagliaroni and James Barton.

District Seven (Esopus and Rosendale) nominated incumbent Lewis Kirchner and also Louis Klein, the town attorney. A third nomination from Rosendale is yet to come.

District Eight, New Paltz and Gardiner, nominated David Fractenberg and Robert Johnston.

District 10 in Wawarsing came in with George Barthel, the incumbent and Eugene Houch and Alex Nirenberg, the village attorney.

District 12, the town of Woodstock, nominated William Kroenberg, one of the town's assessors.

3 Greene Men Charged In Kidnaping of Woman

CATSKILL—Three Greene County men were taken into custody on Sunday by Leeds State Police on charges of kidnaping in the first degree, following an investigation involving an upstate woman who allegedly was taken from the home of her mother and forced to accompany the trio. Troopers at the Leeds station identified the defendants as Robert DeCarlo, 30, and William Bacon, 27, both of South Cairo, and Ernest VanDyke, 21, of Route 32, Cairo.

The three were arraigned before Town Justice Charles Crommie and committed to the Greene County jail pending further investigation and court action.

The arrests were made by BCI Investigators J. S. Swank and J. J. Salmon, Sergeant R. W. Miller and Trooper J. S. Kiebart, who conducted the investigation.

The woman, who accused the three men of kidnaping her from the home of her mother in Waterford on June 18, was identified as Miriam Squadere, age not listed, who resides in the vicinity of Schenectady. Troopers said the woman allegedly had been detained by the defendants until July 9 when she notified relatives and upstate police.

Details of the kidnaping were incomplete today and Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers said the probe is continuing.

Troopers said Bacon also was charged with possessing fireworks. They said the man had a starter's blank cartridge pistol in his possession when arrested.

Another N.Y. Blackout

NEW YORK (UPI)—A failure in a Consolidated Edison transmission system cut off electrical power for more than three hours today to tens of thousands of residents in upper Manhattan and parts of the Bronx.

The power went out at 3:25 a. m., a Con Ed spokesman said, when feeder cables at the Sherman Creek and West 238th Street substations failed. The cause of the blackout was not known.

The power was restored to one section of the area at 6:30 a. m. and to the rest of the blacked out section at 6:41 a. m.

Police rushed additional units to the approximately five square miles area, but reported no unusual incidents.

"The time of the morning helped us," a police desk officer said. Police switchboards, however, were flooded with telephone calls reporting the blackout.

Subway service was curtailed in the area and a Transit

Authority spokesman said the rush hour service would "definitely be affected."

Three police emergency service trucks were sent to Jewish Memorial Hospital to provide power for the 199-bed institution since its emergency generators could provide only enough power for the hallways. The hospital said there were no emergencies during the period.

The affected area covered most of northwest Manhattan and the west Bronx.

The blackout knocked out the signal system in the subways. The power to the trains themselves was not affected but subway traffic was stopped because the signals were not working. There were no injuries and no one was trapped in the subways.

The blackout came shortly after Con Ed announced Sunday that its biggest generator, named "Big Allis," was back in service. The million-kilowatt generator went out of service last Wednesday, forcing a brief cutback in power.

Marines Pick Middie Vet

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — A Middletown man who served as a Marine in both World War II and the Korean War was elected commandant of the 16,000-member New York State Marine Corps League Saturday.

George Darcy was elected to succeed Gilbert E. Gray of Kingston as commandant. His election was approved unanimously by the more than 100 delegates attending the League's 40th annual convention at West Point.

Darcy is a member of the Rockland County Detachment of the Marine Corps League. He served three terms as detachment commandant and was state senior vice commandant prior to his election Saturday.

Richard M. Lawless of Syracuse was elected senior vice commandant, George Brennan of Hicksville was elected chaplain, and John R. Spain Sr. of Albany was elected judge advocate of the state league.

Loretta Zemrak of Buffalo was re-elected president of the state Marine Corps League Auxiliary.

Other auxiliary officers elected were Maureen Darcy of Middletown, senior vice president; Annette Kilmartin of Syracuse, judge advocate; Catherine Isler of Yonkers, chaplain, and Mary Diehl of Jackson Heights, Queens, trustee.

All-Playground Program Slated At Hutton Park

KINGSTON—Some 300 youngsters are expected to participate in the Kingston Recreation Department's first All-Playground program of the summer, to be held this Tuesday beginning at 12:30 p. m. at Hutton Park off Clifton Avenue.

This week's event has been titled, "Historical Day," the youngsters from throughout Kingston have been invited to compete for a wide variety of prizes, which will be awarded for the costumes they design and wear.

Ron Gabriele, activities director of the summer recreation program, said that costumes will run the gamut from Indian and cowboy outfits to astronaut's suits. He said that anything reflecting America's past will be acceptable.

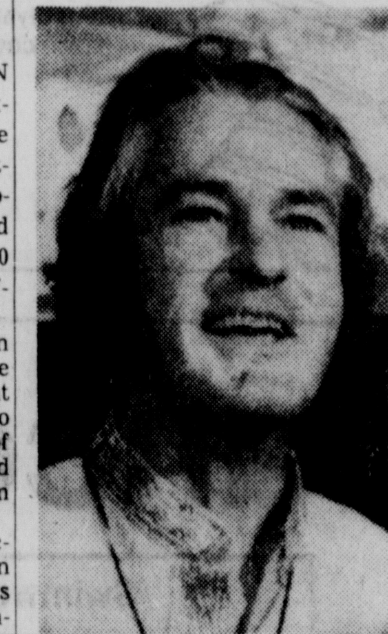

A Recreation Department bus will begin picking up youngsters at all the city's parks and playgrounds for the trip to Hutton Park at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Also included in the day's program at Hutton Park will be a variety of field day activities, including different types of races and watermelon and pie eating contests.

The entire program should be concluded by 3:30 p. m., when the youngsters will be transported back to their "home" parks by bus.

Tuesday's program will be continued, with a different format, each week throughout the summer. On Tuesday, July 20, the fourth annual age group swim meet will be held at the Kingston Point pool. The fifth annual Children's Day Parade is slated for July 29. The parade will begin in front of Kingston High School and will proceed to Dietz Stadium. Persons or groups interested in joining the line of march should contact Gabriele or the Recreation Department as soon as possible.

In addition to the weekly programs held for youngsters representing each park in the city, there are daily activities and events at each park. Also, each park will hold a tournament during the first three days of the week and on Thursday the champions from each park will meet for a city-wide tournament. A Frisbee tournament will be featured for the youngsters this week.

DR. TIM LEARY

Radicals Urge Swiss Grant Leary Asylum

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Two radical members of the Berkeley City Council are urging the Swiss government to grant political asylum to drug advocate Timothy Leary, wanted in the United States since his prison escape last September.

"We believe the efforts of the state and federal authorities to imprison Dr. Leary and thus stifle the free expression of his political and scientific beliefs have gone far beyond permissible boundaries of state authority," read a statement issued during the weekend by new councilmen Ira T. Simmons and D'Army Bailey.

Leary, 50, a former member of the Harvard faculty and a leading advocate of the drug culture, fled the country last year after escaping from the California men's colony at San Luis Obispo. He was serving a term for possession of marijuana.

Leary lived for a time in Algeria and was recently taken into custody when he traveled to Switzerland. California authorities have asked Swiss government officials to return Leary to the state.

'FIRST INSTALLMENT' Patrolman David Di Donenico (L) and Lt. Andrew Danowski of the Palisades Parkway police check cache of dynamite found near Alpine, N. J., on Sunday. Earlier, a caller reportedly told U. S. Treasury officials in New York City where the explosives could be found as a "first installment" on a JDL promise on Friday to turn over all the illegal explosives and firearms in its possession. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

JDL Caller on Dynamite Cache

ALPINE, N.J. (AP) — Dominic Sciolo, a maintenance man, was going about his usual business along the Palisades Interstate Parkway when he made an unusual discovery.

Sciolo had found 194 sticks of dynamite that tied up traffic on the Parkway for an hour while federal authorities and New York City police launched an investigation into the incident.

Soon after Sciolo alerted the authorities, a man claiming to represent the militant Jewish Defense League called federal authorities in New York to say the dynamite was near the highway.

Parkway police removed the explosives and handed them over to Fort Monmouth, an Army base 50 miles south of this Bergen County town.

An investigation into the incident was launched by a newly formed unit of the New York City Police Department that specializes in dealing with explosives and the federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division, which had received the call from the man.

The caller had said the eight-inch-by-one-inch dynamite sticks could be found 200 feet south of the sign at Alpine Lookout, a scenic spot with a spectacular view of the Hudson River.

On Friday, Rabbi Meir Kahane, head of the JDL, and two other members of Kahane's group pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court, Brooklyn to charges of conspiring to manufacture explosives.

Other charges were dropped, provided that the JDL surrendered all explosives in its possession.

Bertram Zieibon, the JDL counsel, said he did not know who made the call to the federal authorities.

He said no date had been set for an inspection to check for explosives at the league's camp at Woodbourne, N.Y.

Gotham-N.Y. Relations Study

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York City Republican Mayor John Lindsay has named a ranking Democrat to head up a special nine-member commission to study city-state relations.

Lindsay's move came Saturday, one month after Republican Governor Rockefeller and the GOP-dominated legislature authorized a committee to study New York City's government operations.

William J. Vanden Heuvel, 39, a former aide to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y., and an aspirant for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1970, was appointed chairman of the commission. Vanden Heuvel said the committee hoped to "produce constructive change. We're not interested in just making more reports. This is the time for change and a time for action."

The committee will meet for the first time Wednesday, he said.

A spokesman for Rockefeller said the governor would have no comment on the mayor's committee. He said the state's commission to look into New York City affairs was still being assembled and would be announced "relatively soon."

Other members of the commission are:

— William B. Lawless, former State Supreme Court Justice and onetime president of the Buffalo common council, now with a New York City law firm.

— Jacqueline Wexler, president of Hunter College.

— Irving S. K. Chin, a member of the city's Human Rights Commission, a lawyer and a civic leader in Chinatown.

— Mario Matthew Cuomo, a lawyer who has been the chief representative of the Corona, Queens, homeowners engaged in a fight to save their neighborhood.

— Emilio P. Gautier, attorney in charge of the Manhattan Legal Services Corp., and a Puerto Rican civic leader.

— Dick Netzer, dean of the Graduate School of Public Administration at New York University.

— R. Peter Straus, president of radio station WMCA and an advocate for years in issues of public discussion.

— Franklin H. Williams, president of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, a non-profit organization concerned with minority affairs, and former ambassador to Ghana.

The commission's temporary staff director will be Leon Panetta, the ex-federal official who is executive assistant to the mayor for intergovernmental affairs.

The commission members are unpaid.

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany says if he were in President Nixon's shoes he would impose wage and price controls in the fight against inflation.

"I don't see any other way that this situation is going to get under control," Meany said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Meany said his own 13.5-million-member labor organization is "not advocating controls," but would not oppose them if they were imposed evenly.

"If he makes a decision that the international situation is such, or the domestic situation is such that he needs to impose controls, we have said time and time again . . . we are saying it now . . . that we will go along," Meany said. "We will accept wage and price controls provided they are shared equally to cover all forms of income and . . . provided the sacrifice is equal to everybody concerned."

Meany said the country has an "inflationary psychology."

New Pension Plan at Benedictine

by LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON Announcement of a new non-contributory pension plan and a Tax Sheltered Annuity Program for all employees of Benedictine Hospital has been made by Sister Mary Charles, administrator. The new expanded benefits for the employees have been made available by the Archdiocese of New York as of July 1.

According to Sister Mary Charles, the employee will no longer contribute to the pension plan but this does not mean the pension is payable at retirement will be reduced. Prior to this time, employees contributed three per cent of their Jan. 1 salary up to $10,000 toward the cost of their pension. Contributions made prior to Jan. 1 of this year will remain credited to the employee's pension account and will be refunded with three per cent interest upon death or termination of employment prior to retirement.

Any eligible employees who have not chosen to join the plan previously may now do so, Sister said.

Employees not participating in the pension plan may join the Tax Sheltered Annuity Plan however which is also available to all employees.

The two income tax advantages of the program include the fact that the interest earned on the money contributed to TSA is tax free until withdrawn. The current rate of interest is six per cent beginning July 1. Also, the amount set aside from pay and contributed to TSA is "not-reportable as current income. For instance, if an employee earning $10,000 a year, contributed $500 in a calendar year ($5.77 a week) to TSA, his W-2 form will show $9,700 as wages subject to income tax.

Ownership of the annuity is permanently vested in the employee. Upon termination of employment, the employee may withdraw the money or leave it on deposit. If the employee joins another non-profit organization, he may continue to contribute providing the new employer is willing to make the deduction from his salary.

At retirement all employees who participated in both the pension plan and TSA will receive two retirement checks. When the money is received, income tax will have to be paid on the amount withdrawn. Receipt of the money may be spaced over a period of time in order to reduce taxes.

The annuity money is available for withdrawal at any time, but should the annuity participant die prior to retirement, the current value of the annuity will be paid to the named beneficiary.

Oriental Rugs AUCTION MONDAY

Free Exhibition of Ancient Art Form at the HOWARD JOHNSONS MOTOR LODGE, NY Thwy exit 19, Rte 28, Kingston, N.Y. by Esfandi

IRAN: an exhibition of over 100 examples of authentic Oriental and Persian Rugs will be held free to the public at 5 p.m., Monday, July 12, at the Howard Johnsons Motor Lodge, NY Thwy, exit 19, Kingston, N.Y. followed at 7:30 p.m., by an auction and brief talk on the historical significance of this rare art form.

JUNE FESTIVAL AUCTION Each year in special celebration of rugs completed for the marketing month of June, Persian rug-weavers celebrate several months of hard work. Their finest work and many other rugs are prepared for transportation and sale at the bazaar for direct export to Europe and America.

Here in the U.S. we plan to celebrate this important event and arrival of our unusual selection of 'June' rugs, just cleared government inspection.

You are invited to the free exhibition to view lovely floral and geometric masterpieces of design which are still made the same way as 1000 years ago. You will see the vibrant colors created from carefully guarded vegetable dye recipes handed down from father to son. Years of work, beginning with shearing the sheep for wool, spinning it to drawing the design on paper evolve into the final work of art. A large celebration follows the completion of each rug, whereupon it is ceremoniously washed in a mineral stream.

Not only are they beautiful, but most banks accept rugs for security deposit. These works last a lifetime and add a beauty accent to any home.

Residents of Kingston are urged to visit the Monday auction and evaluate the beauty and craftsmanship of those oriental rugs shown to add to or begin their collection of an ancient art which is destined to grow more in valuable as it becomes rarer.

Area Police Issue Burglary Warnings

KINGSTON Police agencies in many cities through the State of New York have been plagued by a rash of burglaries in homes and businesses establishments in recent weeks, and Kingston is no exception.

Several residences and taverns and stores have been victimized by the thieves, and in many instances arrests have resulted from investigation by police.

Acting Police Chief Julius Glassman today called upon residents to notify police immediately if they hear any unusual noises or see any suspicious actions of strangers at any time during the day or night. The person calling police need not identify himself.

Glassman noted, "but many such calls lead to an arrest and a quick solution to a crime." Glassman urged the public to call either of the following numbers 331-1671 or 331-8404, to report any suspicious noise or acts of individuals.

The acting chief emphasized that there is no cause for alarm because of the recent burglaries, which are prevalent in many cities. He suggested that residents secure their homes when they are away for any length of time, either shopping or vacationing.

It was noted that many area residents have burglar alarms in their homes and business places, and many others have a light or two burning when the house is unattended. Another plan followed by many residents is not to let newspapers or mail accumulate on their porches.

"Although calls from persons who suspect a crime might be very important to police,"

Summer Program Scheduled For Hurley West Hurley Towns

HURLEY The towns of Hurley-West Hurley will again sponsor the annual summer recreation program. The program has been highly successful over the past many years and a continuation is expected.

The program, this year, will be held at the Jewish Community Center Camp (JCC) on Hurley Mountain. This area contains all the facilities necessary for a successful program in daily recreational activities with two pools, ballfield, badminton.

The program will begin on July 12 and run for four weeks ending Aug. 6. A nominal charge will be asked from participants in the program on a daily basis. This charge will also include refreshments given daily at the camp. The program will run on weekdays only and children participating must be entering the third grade in school in September in order to be eligible, with those through high school welcome. The hours of the program will range from approximately 12:30 p. m. through 4:30 p. m.

Registration for the program will start on Monday at 12 noon at the West Hurley Firehouse for children who reside in West Hurley and the Hurley Reformed Church parking area for the Old Hurley children. The two sites will be the pick up and dropping off points for the program. Children will be picked up by the bus at Old Hurley at 12:30 p. m. daily and the children from West Hurley will be picked up at 1 p. m.

Permission slips for registration may be picked up from the counselors on any day once the program is started and those registering Monday will facilitate registration by bringing a permission slip from home signed by their parents.

The program this year will again be under the directorship of Frank Ebelheiser, who will be assisted by Miss M. Klingler, J. Levins and Miss S. Webber.

Grateful Man Presents Boat

RIFTON A 54-year-old visitor to Ulster County was so thankful that he was rescued from drowning in the Walkill River near here recently, that he presented a boat he had for fishing to the Rifton Fire Company, according to Chief Constable Joseph Feraca of the Town of Esopus.

The rescue was made by the chief and Constable Kenneth Gordon and members of the local fire units. According to Feraca, Jack Peerles of Brooklyn and some friends parked along the river and while Peerles' companions napped in the vehicle, he decided to try his luck at fishing. Feraca said the man removed a plastic boat from the top of the car and set it down in the river. He rode about 300 yards up the Walkill and suddenly the light craft capsize, throwing the Brooklynite in 50 feet of water.

"The man couldn't swim," Feraca said, "but he managed to cling to a rock ledge. As he kept his head above water he screamed for help."

A woman resident identified as Mrs. Polinsky luckily heard the frantic cries for help. She immediately called the Rifton Fire Company and notified Gordon, who relayed the call to Feraca. Firemen and the constables sped to the scene and found Peerles still clinging to the ledge.

Feraca said Peerles was pulled from the water about an hour after he toppled in as his boat capsize.

"The man was so thankful to the firemen and me and Gordon that he gave his plastic boat to the fire company."

"It was certainly a close call for Peerles," Feraca commented.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 12, 1971

Jack Anderson Says

Skullduggery Afoot in Capitol

WASHINGTON — The key government witness in the celebrated bribery case against ex-Senator Dan Brewster, D-Md., has been caught up in a financial scandal at the prestige national law fraternity where he has been working.

When the dust clears, the government may find that its star witness has been discredited. On the other hand, it may turn out that pro-Brewster members of the fraternity trumped up the charges.

The star witness, Brewster's former administrative assistant Jack Sullivan, gave the Justice Department a 200-page affidavit on August 5, 1969, which formed the basis for Brewster's indictment on bribery charges. Sullivan's statement also made serious charges against other prominent Democrats.

Since Brewster left office after the 1968 election, Sullivan, a hefty, personable man, has been working as administrative director of Delta Theta Phi, whose headquarters are in Washington.

His involvement in the Brewster case has upset some of the fraternity's members. They have circulated copies of news clippings about him within the organization in an effort to stimulate opposition to him.

With the fraternity's biennial convention coming up this month, allegations of financial irregularities suddenly surfaced. Sullivan received a call from Joseph DePaul, a suburban Washington lawyer and top fraternity official. DePaul ordered him to bring the record books to his office.

Sullivan followed orders, taking the books to DePaul's office the same afternoon. DePaul then decided he and Sullivan should fly to Cleveland the next day with the books to meet with the fraternity's highest officer, Chancellor Edward Meyers.

The next day, the two decided that the books were too bulky, so most of them were left in Sullivan's car at Friendship Airport near Baltimore.

The meeting with Meyers was relatively uneventful, except there was reportedly some discussion about the need to borrow money to finance the convention.

When Sullivan and DePaul returned to Friendship that night, the car was gone. It was recovered by police two nights later in a distant Washington suburb. The records of checks and deposits were still in the car but the box of invoices from 1969 to the present was missing.

That was Friday night, June 25. Sullivan, confident copies of the invoices could be obtained from the fraternity's suppliers, went to the beach for the weekend. He returned to the office Tuesday morning.

There he found DePaul and two other fraternity officials. They began bombarding him with suspicious questions about the books, about the fact that there were more than $20,000 in bills outstanding. An angry exchange erupted.

The result of the meeting was that Sullivan was told to go on vacation and to stay on leave until an audit, which had been in progress, was completed and the issue was resolved.

My associate Brit Hume sought comment from DePaul, Meyers and every other high official of Delta Theta Phi we could reach. All refused to talk. Sullivan, on the other hand, discussed the matter openly with us.

He insisted that the audit will vindicate him and that the controversy was totally trumped up.

The Brewster case, by the way, has been put in limbo for the time being by an astonishing court ruling that the Constitution protects a Senator from such charges. The government has appealed to the Supreme Court, which is not expected to let the ruling stand.

FOOTNOTE: The use of Sullivan's statement to embarrass the Democrats is typical of Attorney General John Mitchell, who has turned the Justice Department into a branch office of the Republican National Committee.

Mitchell Gools
To promote the GOP Southern strategy, he selected two politically certified but poorly qualified Southerners, Clement Haynsworth and Harold Carswell, to fill a vacancy on the Supreme Court. The Senate rejected them both. Then he sought to delay school integration in Mississippi and to oppose cross-town busing at Charlotte, N.C. The Supreme Court slapped him down both times, unananimously.

To give the Nixon Administration a law-and-order image, Mitchell has approved electronic eavesdropping without court authorization, no-knock police raids and preventative detention. Many constitutionalists expect these practices, too, to be outlawed by the Supreme Court.

Finally, Mitchell was behind the attempt to muzzle the N.Y. Times and Washington Post by using the government's injunctive powers for the first time in American history against the press. This effort to stop publication of the Pentagon papers was rejected six to three, by the Supreme Court. Even some of the Justices who supported the government didn't agree necessarily that the government had the power to prevent publication but merely wanted more time to consider the arguments.

The Peace Issue

He took us out of war!

Republican leaders are beginning to test the sound of these words as their best slogan to re-elect Richard M. Nixon in 1972.

They are grabbing "the peace issue" as their very own and hoping to make a winning issue of it.

They point to the fact that when Mr. Nixon came into office at the start of 1969, there were 542,000 U. S. troops in Vietnam; that two and a half years later, today, there are about 230,000 and they are being reduced every month.

After speaking to the President, these leaders say that their conclusion is that "the war will virtually be over in nine months."

They don't quote the President. He is guarding his withdrawal timetable closely for whatever advantage he can get from it in negotiations with the enemy. But they are certain that withdrawals will soon be speeded up to 30,000 to 35,000 a month, and all but 30,000 will be home by spring.

That would be an accelerated withdrawal program. But it is not unreasonable, given the state of the war now, and the pressures for bringing the boys home.

Of course, the Democrats are not going to let Mr. Nixon have the peace issue by default. Senator George McGovern, declared presidential candidate, said that Mr. Nixon was far too late in pulling out of Vietnam to have the peace issue going for him next year.

But Senator Barry Goldwater, 1964 Republican candidate, said the Republicans not only have the peace issue but the Democrats were stuck with the war issue.

Goldwater pointed out that when Americans go to war, a Democrat is in the White House; when they get out of war, a Republican makes the peace.

If Mr. Nixon gets the boys home by next spring or summer, he cannot help but have the peace issue going for him. It will remain to be seen what he will do to get the economy going for him.

26th Amendment Ratified

The 26th amendment, lowering the voting age in all elections in all states to 18 years, was put through in record time when Ohio became the 38th state to ratify it. North Carolina and Alabama had ratified the amendment earlier in the same day.

Usually, the ratifying process takes 15 months. Legislatures do not move speedily. In this instance, the job was done in three months. This affirms the strong belief that this is a politician's amendment, rather than a popular one.

The amendment attracted some opposition in the Ohio legislature. Some felt that such a question should be put to a public vote. Two years ago, Ohio rejected a proposal to lower its voting age to 19. Conscientious legislators wanted to make sure the people approved the new amendment.

But the rush was on. Politicians in both parties on the federal and state levels saw critical advantage in being able to claim credit for lowering the voting age. First Congress, and then in the legislature of two thirds of the states, action was rushed on the amendment.

After all, 26 million new voters—11 million from 18 to 21 and 15 million from 21 to 25—will be eligible to vote in 1972. They can, if they exercise their newly-given franchise, swing results both in local and national elections.

One good thing the ratification accomplished. The confusion which would have been caused by limiting 18-year-old voters to federal elections, and barring from state and local elections, have been avoided. The Supreme Court allowed them to vote for federal offices. The 26th amendment gives them the right to vote in all elections. We hope they will vote responsibly.

One sure thing is that adults will have to turn out to vote in maximum number if they want any phase of government to reflect their maturer views. Otherwise, campus radicals, exerting their influence on youth, could soon have the country.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Philosophy of Voltaire

PARIS — On June 23, 1718, Voltaire (Francois Marie Arouet) was released from the Bastille. A victim of this country's royal oppression, and his books burned, Voltaire wrote: "Let's talk about an elephant. It's the only big subject that's safe."

Born here, Voltaire stayed away from Paris for 28 years. Geneva, Switzerland, had given him sanctuary. But this genius — complex as any maze and as arrogant as any Oriental potentate — an archer after celebrities and often a fool, also castigated even the Genevans.

Voltaire was a colorful as an Easter egg. But his self-praise which was constant, his apologies, which were hypocritical, his lamentations, which were nauseating, and his total disloyalty eliminated friend after friend whose trust he so infamously abused.

In the bright, stony gaze of Voltaire's gray eyes — glowing like polestars — there was the look of a lynx. Treachery was the very essence of Voltaire's breath and his prejudices spread over his spirit like a mushroom crop. So did envy.

Moliere wrote masterpieces sometimes in a week. For that Voltaire never forgave him. And he condemned Shakespeare as "a genius of fecundity without a ray of taste" or any knowledge of the rules of drama.

Voltaire was one of the 20 richest men in France. Jean Jacques Rousseau died in the same year Voltaire died, but he was 18 years younger. How life cracked around Voltaire while Rousseau, like some mole digging in the darkness plowed through his stingily paid work along with his laundress and her brood of greedy, impecunious relations.

The great fault of this connoisseur of the ridiculous was his inveterate superficiality. Patrick Henry was Voltaire's contemporary. When he pronounced his immortal "Give me liberty or give me death," staunchness, conviction and emotion stirred in him as these characteristics stirred in Rousseau. Tom Paine and Daniel Webster. Voltaire's inside nature, however, was a all brain. He was the epitome of Descartes' famous phrase.

Cogito, ergo sum (I think, therefore I am.)

But Voltaire did magnificently attack "the scintillated lies with which the earth is filled" and was, an apostle of reason in a world which needed, and still needs, it.

In fact, you have only to think of the U.S.S.R., Red China and Castro's Cuba to realize how vulnerable that freedom is which Voltaire called "the health of the soul" — the freedom to think, speak and write.

The wonderful acuteness, unsurpassed force and great versatility of his fiery protests made these so incomparably persuasive in the call for liberty that they have no superior and scarcely a rival. France's code of justice, which to this day prescribes that a doomed man can quietly drink his glass of wine before the axe falls, owes that requirement directly to Voltaire.

Moreover, Voltaire was among the earliest writers to be always conscious of the historic principle that, beyond prominent leaders, there is an impersonal, moving current at work underneath — permanent as a stream is permanent, with changing content.

Said Voltaire: "History is the story of sliken slippers descending the stairs: heavy boots marching up to them." He proclaimed that history largely determines its own flow and that leaders largely ride that flow.

In his 84th year Voltaire returned to this city on February 10, 1778, to prepare the first performance of his "Irene." His reception was a triumph, but the emotion was too much for him and he died a few months later.

Voltaire's body was first hurriedly interred at the Scellieres Abbey in Champagne and then, in 1791, was transferred to the Pantheon here. His heart, taken from the body when it was embalmed, was preserved in a silver case. When members of the Academie Francaise proposed in 1864 that Voltaire's heart be restored to the other remains the sarcophagus at the Pantheon was opened. It was found to be empty.

Happiness Is 3 Cars — No Garage

BERRY'S WORLD

"I was just thinking! Since we're buying Turkey's opium production, maybe with a good real estate agent, we could have bought North Vietnam!"

It was bound to happen. I saw it coming seven years ago. Now it has come to pass that we are a three-car family with no garage. None at all. The dog, Charlie Chan, has better quarters than the automobiles. He has a license but no brakes. As I have pointed out before, children are sneaky. They grow up while your back is turned.

What was 10 years old seven years ago, snapping bubble gum and trying to learn how to ride a bike, is suddenly 17 years of age, tall, stately and it has a figure, its own telephone, and a lot of secrets. It cries at the slightest family affront, and if you can't find it, look in the bathroom and you will locate it under a headful of white foam.

The madam and I have had a white Lincoln Continental for a number of years. It has four wheels and a lot of electrical gadgets. My wife permits me to use it if we are going somewhere together. Otherwise, I walk. She needs it every afternoon for shopping.

Suddenly, Karen is 18. Kathi is 16. I thought I was playing the last of the great spenders when I bought them a blue Maverick last winter. This took them off the school bus and nearly put me on it.

My problems, I figured, were solved. They had a simple little car for their simple little minds. We had a slight dilemma teaching Karen how to back a car into a space behind another car — it cost two shrubs and a bed of flowers — but otherwise, she did well. The motor vehicle inspector was deaf and blind, and he gave her a passing grade because he survived.

She doesn't know north from south, but, if you point her, Karen is a careful driver. The kid is so sure of herself that she now glares at cars which pass hers. Her mother and I no longer wonder if she will get home, only when. Then the inevitable happened. Karen graduated from high school and Kathi was still in it. The older girl got a summertime job in a bank, and gracefully turned the Maverick over to her kid sister. There is a half-moon turntable on the front lawn, and both cars had to park there because my wife sealed up the garage years ago, knotty-pined it, and converted it to an office to get rid of me.

These bits of imperishable prose come right out of the old automobile bedroom. It is now full of bookshelves and me. Karen began to reason, out loud, that she couldn't go to college without a car, and yet she owned half of the Maverick Kathi was driving. Kathi said that no matter which one got the wheels, the other one was going to be up a tree — hopefully, without the car.

Females have a gentle and persistent manner of tossing these problems aimlessly, but only when poppa is nearby. I got the message. I sent it right back marked "Address Unknown." It did no good.

Momma began to join the girls in the discussion. "It does create a problem," she said.

I am sheer iron when it comes to saying no. Twice is enough. All three females retired to their rooms for a little cry. Then all, emerged wiping their eyes and exclaiming, "You're absolutely right, Dad. Three cars in one family are too much."

So I phoned an old buddy at Kroll Motors in Long Branch, N.J., and said: "Do me something." "What you need," he said unconsciously, "is a nice little yellow Maverick." What the kids required was a slightly less yellow father. I bought the Maverick, but I had to complicate the deal so that the girls wouldn't think they were getting away with murder.

"Kathi," I said, "the car is going to run a little over $2,000 slightly used. You will pay 25 per cent of it out of your bank account and will own 100 per cent of the blue Maverick. Karen, you will pay $500 dollars out of your money and will own all of the new car. Mommy and I will pay a thousand as a gift to both of you."

They didn't jump up and down and say: "Oh, goody. What generous parents we have." Both jaws dropped and they mumbled: "Five hundred?" Yes, I said, five hundred apiece or no third automobile."

It was done. My three ladies now have their own cars — I don't have a pair of roller skates — and no garage. After payment was sent to Gene Kroll, I sat in the garage typing and mumbled: "What are they griping about? Where did they each get the five hundred and the rest that's in the bank? From me, Joe Sucker, that's who."

If you see a white-haired man standing on the highway with pantsleg rolled up to show a deliciously curved calf and a thumb rocking back and forth, please stop. Give me a lift . . .

SUMMER ADDITIONS — Now added to the wide variety of recreational activities available at Hidden Valley this summer are paddleboats (like the one shown above) and dune buggies. The sturdy, tip-proof paddleboats seat up to four people, and work by foot peddle for a leisurely ride up and down Hidden Valley Lake. The dune buggies which were on display at this year's Kingston Lions Club Exposition, hug the turf like a cart and have a sturdy frame to absorb the jolts of riding in the wilds. Both vehicles may be rented by the hour at Hidden Valley.

Miller to Run Freeman Shopper

KINGSTON Hayman E. Miller has rejoined the staff of The Daily Freeman as business manager in charge of the new Freeman Shopper, a weekly publication for consumers in Northern Dutchess County.

Miller will oversee all business-related aspects of The Freeman Shopper, a new weekly publication that will be distributed free of charge to some 13,200 families in communities throughout Northern Dutchess County.

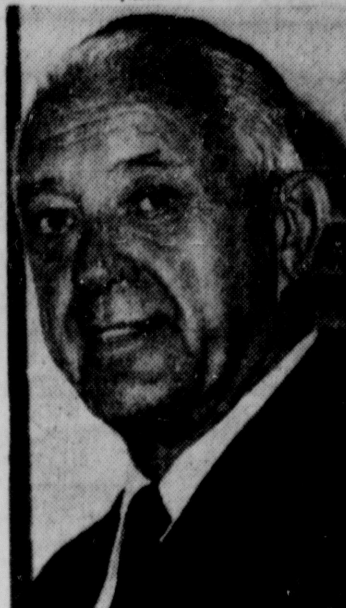

The Freeman Shopper will be distributed for the first time this week, and will include a complete listing of merchants' offerings both in Northern Dutchess and Ulster Counties. It is designed specifically to aid Northern Dutchess shoppers in their quest for the best bargains available in the area.

Miller brings to his new post an extensive background in special promotions activities. He worked on the sales staff of the New York Sun and was later in charge of special promotions for the New York Herald Tribune. As advertising manager of the International Herald Tribune, Miller traveled extensively throughout the world soliciting business for special publications of the newspaper.

Miller retired from that post in 1967, and then joined the special promotions staff of the advertising department of the Daily Freeman. While at The Freeman, he created and supervised several popular supplements and tabloids. He took a leave of absence from The Freeman several years ago.

Speaking of the new Freeman Shopper, Miller said recently that "It will be a tremendous help to the people in Northern Dutchess." He noted that this

Billie Sol Estes Is Free; Plans to Become a Farmer

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes walked out of La Tuna Federal Correctional Institution at 12:03 a.m. today, paroled after serving more than six years of a 15-year prison term.

Estes, who was sentenced for fraud after being accused of a multimillion-dollar swindle involving nonexistent farm fertilizer tanks, slipped into the back seat of a private car, flanked by two young people. The car then sped away into the darkness.

Mrs. Estes had said at the family home in Abilene on Saturday that three of the five Estes children would accompany her to El Paso for Estes' release.

Warden W. E. Zachem had said Estes asked for a "private dismissal."

Estes, 46, said previously he would live with his wife and family in Abilene and work on a farm owned by a brother, John Estes.

Terms of his parole stipulate that he "shall not engage in any self-employment or promo-

Greene Woman Dies of Burns

PALENVILLE

An elderly woman died of burns sustained while she was trapped inside her blazing home in the Greene County community of Palenville early today.

A spokesman for the Palenville Fire Department said they received an alarm at 4:45 a.m. today. Upon arrival at a one-story home in Woodland Avenue, they found the entire structure completely engulfed in flames.

The dead woman was identified by Leeds State Police as Mary Woods. Police said she was about 75 years old. Her badly charred body was found near a window of the home. She was pronounced dead at the scene.

About 50 volunteer firemen with three pieces of equipment battled the fire for three hours this morning before bringing it under control. The cause of the fire has not yet been determined. Bureau of Criminal Investigation authorities from the Leeds barracks are investigating.

The home was listed as a total loss.

Firemen reported that they suspected that the woman's nephew was also trapped inside her burning home, but they later learned that he had spent the night at a friend's house in Palenville.

Sheriff Busy During Week

TOWN OF ESOPUS

A Port Ewen man was arrested Sunday by Deputy Sheriff Donald Van Aken on a charge of harassment, according to Sergeant Raymond Davis, who also reported the arrest of a woman on a charge of fishing without a license.

Joseph John Auringer, 23, of 161 Prospect Street, Port Ewen, pleaded innocent to harassment before Town Justice Charles Montafia, who adjourned the case until Tuesday at 2 p.m. The complaint was made by Bud Potter of Horton Lane, Port Ewen, police said. Details of the incident were not available.

Charged with fishing in the Rondout Creek without a license in violation of the Conservation Law was Janet Cespedes, 28, of 56 Henry Street, Kingston. Deputies reported. She pleaded guilty before Woodstock Town Justice Rudolf Baumgarten and was fined $25. The arrest was made by Deputy Robert Johansen.

Carol MacDonald Weds C. L. Pinckney

MRS. CLIFFORD L. PINCKNEY (Lakeside Studio)

The Rev. Ronald Gaesser of St. Mary's Church, Auburn, N. Y., officiated at the double ring ceremony of Miss Carol Jean MacDonald and Clifford Louis Pinckney. The ceremony took place at St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, on Saturday, June 26 at 1 p.m. James Sweeney, organist, accompanied Robert Charlesworth who sang traditional wedding selections. The altar was decorated with gold vases filled with pink, blue and white gladioli and chrysanthemums. White satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. MacDonald, 33 Rayna Street, Elmendorf Heights, Hurley, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pinckney, 24 Park Place, Auburn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white empire style gown of silk organza. Alencon lace edged the cuffs of the full bishop sleeves and was applied on the neckline and vertically from the shoulders to the hemline on the front of the gown. The apron-effect front panel was accented with seed pearls and the gown featured a detachable cathedral train. Her three tiered silk illusion veil was attached to a stylized headpiece of lace and aurora crystals. Two tiers were bordered with lace matching that of the gown. She carried a cascade of miniature white and pink carnations, daisies, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Miss Roberta Anne MacDonald, 33 Rayna Street, Elmendorf Heights, served as maid of honor in a pinstripe sheer empire lavender gown. The gown was fashioned with a scooped neckline and featured a center bow at back. The edge of the baby-puff sleeves, her waistline and back bow were accented with multi-colored Venise lace trim. She wore a matching lavender picture hat and carried a white fireside basket of pink miniature carnations, daisies and baby's breath with lilac ribbons.

The Misses Donna Pinckney, sister of the bridegroom, 24 Park Place, Auburn; Julia Pepper, 9 Orchard Street, Hurley; and Irene Hornung, Wayside Drive, Hurley, were bridesmaids. Their pink nylon pinstripe sheer gowns were in identical styling to that of the honor attendant's. They carried white fireside baskets of lilac miniature carnations, daisies and baby's breath, trimmed with pink ribbons.

Raymond Kilmer, 4 Sherman Street, Auburn, served as best man. Ushers were Frank Netti, Leo Warren, and Charles Donato, all of Auburn.

A reception for 130 guests was held at the Beekman Arms Hotel, Rhinebeck.

The bride wore a navy blue and white three piece pant suit with a daisy corsage for her traveling ensemble to the Pocono Mountains, Penna.

Mrs. Pinckney is a 1969 graduate of Kingston High School and was graduated in June from Auburn Community College. She will attend State University at Cortland this fall.

Her husband, a 1967 alumnus of West High School, Auburn, was also graduated in June from Auburn Community College. He served with the U.S. Naval Reserve and will attend State University College at Cortland this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Pinckney will reside at 39 Hamilton Avenue, Auburn.

Ratajczak - Dall Nuptials Announced Here

MRS. MICHAEL J. DALL (Denis Studio)

Miss Angeline Marie Ratajczak, 73 Beck Street, Buffalo, became the bride of Michael Joseph Dall, 344 Richbell Road, Mamaroneck, on Saturday, July 3 at 12:30 p.m. at Corpus Christi Church, Clark Street, Buffalo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ratajczak, 73 Beck Street, Buffalo, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dall, 1127 Dalewood Street, Kingston.

The bride wore a nylon organza gown in the A-line styling with a full gathered back. Crystal and pearl beading and venise lace trimmed the edge of the hem, empire bodice, stand-up collar, bishop sleeves and the detachable chapel train. A bouffant angel veil was attached to a rolled flowered headpiece of nylon organza and she carried white roses.

The matron of honor, Judith Ann Kozlowski, was attired in a gown fashioned with a white chiffon fitted bodice and a green chiffon skirt. A yellow velvet ribbon accented the waist and venise lace trimmed the stand-up collar and bishop sleeves. Her bouffant veil was held by a matching lime and yellow headpiece of rosettes and leaves.

Attendants were Judy Olejniczak, Pamela Murvynowski, and Gabriele Patole, all of Buffalo. Miss Leslie Heidcamp and Miss Marie Kowal served as flower girls. They wore gowns similar in styling to the matron of honor's with white bodices and yellow skirts.

George Dall Jr., Richbell Road, Mamaroneck, was best man. Ushers were Robert Finch, Kingston; William D-Lorenzo, Schenectady; and William Hoseny, Syracuse.

A reception was held at Plewacki Post, Paderewski Drive, Buffalo.

The bride is a graduate of D-Youville School of Nursing, Buffalo. Her husband is an alumnus of Our Lady of Lourdes High School, Poughkeepsie and Niagara University, where he earned a business degree. He is employed as a staff accountant with Price Waterhouse Inc., New York City.

After a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Dall will make their home at Mamaroneck.

COLORFUL SEASCAPE and charming portrait, held here from L-R by Mrs. Charles Tiano, Mrs. Melvin Pickett and Mrs. Carlyle Moore Jr., are two of the works that will be on sale in the benefit for Mid-Hudson Heart Association, planned Saturday, July 17 from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the Woodstock School. (Freeman photo by John Kruh).

Woodstock's 'Art for Heart'

Woodstock artists have rallied with enthusiasm to the "Art for Heart" Sale to be held at Woodstock School on Saturday, July 17, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

More than 100 artists are contributing their work to the sale, marking one of the first times such an ingathering of Woodstock work has been held in the art colony. A genuine community venture, the sale will also see members of the Woodstock Jaycees acting as security guards for the day.

Mrs. Arthur Zaidenberg, known professionally as Tommy Beere, Eugene Ludins and Reginald Wilson will serve as the Hanging Committee while heart committee members will include Mrs. Robert Fisher, Mrs. Noel France, Mrs. Ernest Jones, Mrs. Carlyle Moore Jr., Mrs. Melvin Pickett, Mrs. Allan Simmons, Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. Charles Tiano.

Doris Lee, one of America's best known women painters and a contributor to the sale, is also donating a work by Arnold Blanch, victim of a heart attack several years ago. She feels it will serve as an appropriate memorial to the late artist.

The sale, expected to draw collectors from the entire Mid-Hudson Valley, will provide a rare opportunity for art-lovers to see an unusually wide selection of Woodstock art under one roof. In the generous tradition of artists, 50 per cent of the proceeds will go to the Mid-Hudson Heart Association. Anyone wishing further information about the sale may phone Woodstock Friends of Heart chairman, Mrs. Robert Fisher at 679-6516.

The bonanza selection at the July 17 sale in Woodstock will include paintings, sculpture and prints to suit the most discriminating taste. Art will be a "good buy" during this unusual one-day sale, and whether you're a young married just starting to furnish a home or a veteran collector, you'll want to attend.

Madrigalists for Maverick

Next Wednesday night, an unusual evening's entertainment takes over at Woodstock's rustic Maverick Hall. Featured in a "special" (their annual, traditional concert at the Hall) will be the Mid-Hudson Madrigal Singers.

Elizabethian to the hilt, this ensemble of close to 20 voices is professionally adept in the authentic rendition of "merie songs."

Their concerts are always a delight for they display unparalleled talent for presenting a repertoire that is not only good, but difficult—calling for the singing of a half dozen or more different parts over and over again.

The Maverick concert this Wednesday, July 14 at 8:30 p. m. has an extra, added attraction dating back three centuries.

Tickets for next week's concert are available from members of the Singers, and will also be on sale at the Maverick box office on performance night.

Sick Husband or Sick Marriage?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both in our early forties and we have always had what I considered to be a good marriage. My husband has been a controlled diabetic for some time, but now he has high blood pressure. He recently told me that his doctor has informed him that he cannot have marital relations with me anymore as the excitement might further damage his health. Can this be true?

Don't suggest I ask his doctor because his doctor is his golfing buddy and he would never make a liar out of my husband even if he was one.

WONDERING IN N.J.
DEAR WONDERING: Yes, it's possible that your husband's doctor told him what he told you. But if you suspect your husband of trying to avoid marital relations with you by giving you a phony medical report, you have more trouble than a sick husband — you have a sick marriage.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from MISERABLE IN MAINE — the girl who was engaged to a disabled veteran — hit close to home with me.

I walked down the aisle to marry a man who was waiting from me in a wheelchair. It was a beautiful wedding, and I felt like the luckiest girl in the world to be marrying such a wonderful man.

We've been married for four years and we couldn't be happier. Our son is three and our daughter is two, and we go on picnics, fishing trips and camping vacations together. My husband is an excellent swimmer, and altho he can't water ski, he drives our boat very well. Our kids don't feel cheated because their father is handicapped. They get more attention than most of their friends whose fathers are able-bodied.

Your answer was perfect. "If you really love him, nobody will be able to talk you out of marrying him!" That's exactly what I would have told her.

HAPPY IN ARKANSAS
DEAR HAPPY: Would you believe you have company in every state of the union, and Canada, Ireland and Italy as well?

DEAR ABBY: This is for the babe who says "pumping

DEAR ABBY: There is a young married woman (she is also a mother) who I feel is damaging the reputation of a fine young bachelor minister in our community.

This woman goes to his house daily to do his house cleaning, and she stays most of the afternoon to do the bookkeeping for the parish. I know this minister is above because the bookkeeper was under the same roof. Are you honestly concerned about the minister's reputation? Or is it "the others" who aren't getting a chance?

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents who allow their children to ask guests for money?

While visiting recently, my host's 3-year-old toddled out with her piggy bank and requested a donation. When I said I had no pennies, she peered into my open purse and said, "OK, then give me a dime or a quarter."

Chicken-hearted, I gave her some change while her parents smiled indulgently, and the mother said, "Isn't that cute? She always does that when we have company."

Abby, I like youngsters, but I disapprove of their begging. Or am I just an old fogey?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

doing anything wrong, but you know how people talk.

This woman's staying around to work on the books makes it difficult for anyone else to come and talk with the minister when they need his help. How can she be told she should do the book work at her own home? It would be much better for the pastor's reputation, and it would at least give some others a chance.

gas" is only a sideline — those nice men in the service stations are really there to give directions to people who get lost:

Is that so? I have helped hundreds of "lost" drivers get back on the right road. About half the folks who pull up here want everything but what we are selling. We call them "I.W.W.s" (Information, Wind and Water.) You sure have to fight to make a buck in this business!

LOU IN CANNON FALLS
DEAR LOU: You forgot those fellow travelers who want the key to your restroom.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell Elizabeth K. I would like to be her vice president of the "See America Unintentionally" Society, because getting lost is what I do best.

Would you believe that while driving thru Louisville, I somehow meandered around trying to get out of town, and not once, but three times I drove up to the "Welcome to Louisville" sign?

So, move over, Elizabeth, if I can find you I will be your helper. Actually, I started out to hunt you, stopped for gas on the interstate, drove out of the station, turned the wrong way and wound up home.

Record Breaking Heart Fund Campaign

KINGSTON — Franklin S. Kelder, chairman of the Heart Fund Advisory Committee for the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, has reported that the 1971 Heart Fund Campaign soared to unprecedented heights. The sum of $79,523.23 was collected in Columbia, Greene, and Ulster Counties, in contrast to the previous record figure of $67,005.40 in 1970.

Heading the drive in Ulster was Harold Finkle of the First Albany Corporation. Under Finkle's direction receipts in 1971 rose to $52,817.01 against $44,195.84 in 1970. Assisting Finkle as commerce and industry chairman was Richard L. Treat, publisher of The Daily Freeman. Kingston Chairman for 1971 was Fire Captain Philip Greer whose city organization raised $8,488.72, almost $500 over the 1970 figure of $7,990.30.

"This phenomenal showing," Kelder said, "is due to the dedication of the growing numbers of Heart Fund volunteers and the generous contributions of citizen in the tri-county area served by the Mid-Hudson Heart Association."

Kelder continued, "most of the monies collected for the Heart Fund ultimately go back to the community. The various programs the Heart Association conducts, among them Heart Sounds Screening Program, the Rheumatic Fever Control Program, the Cardiac Diagnostic Program, among others, to say nothing of the Professional Education and Public Health Education as well as research, will all be strengthened as a result of the increased giving."

"The Mid-Hudson Heart Association not only contributes a substantial sum to the research program of the American Heart Association, it also grants awards to New York State scientists. But more needs to be done if the high mortality rate due to the cardiovascular disease is to be sharply reduced."

Two Area Police Academy Graduates

RICHARD A. MILLER SGT. JOHN S. McLEAN

ALBANY — The New York State Police Academy recently graduated a class of 30 officers from the 10-weeks' course in the science of traffic management. The graduates included Undersheriff Richard A. Miller (L) Delaware County sheriff's department, and State Police Sergeant John S. McLean of Troop T stationed in Kingston. This was the fourth group to have completed the course which is believed to be the most intensive training course on traffic problems being offered by any police agency. Enrollment in the course, which is federally financed and carries 12 college credits, is divided equally between supervisory members of the State Police and other police or related agencies. Speakers at the ceremonies were State Police Superintendent William E. Kirwan and Dean Irving A. Verschoor of the College of Special Studies of State University of New York in Albany. Kirwin announced that a fifth session of the course is scheduled to start Sept. 13. Each graduate received a diploma.

Cardiac Laboratory — New Aid to Area Patients

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON Sophisticated diagnostic equipment valued at $85,000 out of priceless value to cardiac patients is now in use at the Kingston Hospital.

The Cardiac Catheterization

Laboratory, combined with the Coronary Care Unit at Kingston Hospital, offers heart patients every necessary facility for care short of heart surgery.
The laboratory is the only complete cardiac diagnostic facility in the Mid-Hudson Valley. With its recent installation, the heart patient no longer needs to travel to other parts of the state for catheterization procedures. All patients may avail themselves of the laboratory through their private physicians.

The unit, staffed by especially trained physicians and nurses, serves three major roles in diagnosing heart conditions: It provides blood pressure and blood samples from the heart chamber and vessels; it provides a continuous record of the heart's electrical activity and it reveals the location of certain structural defects.

Catheterization techniques may prove out previous diagnosis and give a clearer inside picture in preparation for surgery.

The inside picture is given literally in movies and recordings of heart action. The basic equipment is the image intensifier which is an electronic device allowing 3,000 to 5,000 times the intensification of the light of the x-ray beam with less radiation hazard to the patient. This permits better visualization of the heart and blood vessels and provides enough light to take actual movie pictures of these structures.

The procedures are done by constant monitoring of the position of the tube by x-ray and by constant monitoring of the heart beat in an EKG monitor.

The technique consists of passing a catheter to the heart by an artery or vein or both, enabling study of the heart function. It also permits performance of selective angiography which is injection through the tube of a contrast material into any heart chamber. The contrast material is opaque to x-ray and thus allows the picture taking of the various heart chambers and blood vessels.

The procedures are utilized both to confirm diagnosis and to help uncover associated problems even though the main diagnosis has been established.
Patients who are candidates for heart surgery usually undergo the procedures so that the physician is better able to assess the risk involved. Many times the tests are performed to evaluate cardiac function and the heart's response to medical and surgical treatments.

Installation of the Cardiac Catheterization - Angiography Unit at Kingston Hospital comes as the latest in a decade of improving heart care at the hospital. Starting with a Cardiac Consultation Service in 1961, the hospital has been continually striving to improve its heart patient treatment and care facilities.

The Kingston Hospital Auxiliary undertook the task of financing the unit as a very special project in 1970 after the idea had been present by then auxiliary president, Mrs. Harold Finkle in late 1969.

Anthony R. Triulzi, hospital administrator, met with the auxiliary to outline needed equipment and time schedule in January, 1970. Two phases of the development of the facility called for the fluoroscopic aspect which would cost $3,725 and the Cardiac Catheterization-Angiography unit which would cost $33,920. The largest expense in this second phase was the camera costing $17,770.

At the annual meeting of the auxiliary in May of 1970, Mrs.
Finkle, as outgoing president, presented the first payment of the pledge, $20,000, to Triulzi.

In June of this year Mrs.
George Rifenbary, president, presented the second payment of $18,000, leaving the balance of $44,644.

Also assisting greatly with the project has been the Mid-Hudson Heart Association which has contributed $5,000 to the cause. Adding to the cost of the installation is the necessity of special housing for the very special equipment. The laboratory occupies a room of its own adjacent to the cardiac intensive care section at Kingston Hospital.

Gala Party For Seniors

All senior citizens of Ulster
County are invited to a Gala
Theater Party, free of charge,
Tuesday, July 20 at the Mayfair Theater on 9-W, by Dan Cox, city manager of the Walter Reade Theater, and Alexander Yosman, coordinator of the Senior Citizens' Advisory Council.

The film shown will be "Love Story", starring Ali MacGraw and Ryan O'Neal. Cox said the film was an Academy Award winner, and one of the most highly acclaimed films of 1970.

The movie will start promptly at 2 p.m. Golden Age Cards, which permit admission at reduced rates throughout the year for all senior citizens at the Community and Mayfair

Theaters will be available, said
Cox.

Yosman emphasized this Theater Party is scheduled for the Mayfair Theater and not the Community Theater as in the past. He said he was pleased to have the Walter Reade Theater management work so closely with the senior citizens of our area.

Any senior citizen requesting assistance of any sort may call 338-0933.

Serving over 50,000 satisfied clients for over 12 years.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Chile to Nationalize All Its Copper Mines

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende is expected to sign the constitutional amendment to complete nationalization of Chile's copper industry despite his complaint that it gives the U.S. companies too many breaks.

Meeting in joint session Sunday night, 158 of the 200 senators and deputies in Congress unanimously approved the amendment without debate. The vote came after a festive "National Dignity Day," ordered by the government to celebrate the nationalization.

The government bought part of the Chilean holdings of the three U.S. companies—Anaconda, Kennecott and Cerro—during the administration of President Eduardo Frei, and completion of the nationalization is a cornerstone of Allende's program to "open the doors to socialism in Chile."

Estimates of the investment by the three companies in Chile's five biggest mines range from $300 million to $800 million. There is no estimate of how much they have profited, but the five mines last year produced 85,000 tons of metal worth more than $1 billion. Copper is Chile's most important resource and produces 80 per cent of the country's foreign exchange.

Allende in a heated 90-minute speech Sunday in Rancagua, 55 miles south of Santiago, accused the U.S. companies of allowing the mines to get in an "alarming state."

He said recent surveys by French and Russian mining experts confirmed this. He also said the studies demonstrated that the companies did not use efficient management techniques in operating the mines.

He singled out Anaconda and Kennecott for making "fabulous sums" in Chile while allowing their mines to deteriorate.

Referring to compensation to the companies for their holdings, Allende told his cheering audience of miners: "We'll pay if it's fair. We won't pay if it's not fair."

"We're going to stop money from leaving Chile and going to the great international copper empires," he said. "We're going to stop Chile from being a beggar nation."

Rancagua sits at the base of the mountain holding El Teniente, the world's biggest underground copper mine, which is operated by Kennecott.

The compensation paid to the copper companies is expected to be a major factor in determining future U.S. policy toward Chile and its Marxist president.

The companies are covered by millions of dollars in exportation insurance issued by the Overseas Private Investment Corp., an agency of the U.S. government. Should the Allende government refuse to pay compensation or offer a figure the companies consider too low they could claim insurance payments from the U.S. Government.

Leaving Scene, DWI, Charged in City Incidents

KINGSTON — A Florida youth was arrested Saturday night by Kingston Police on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident on Van Buren Street.

Jeffrey Thaw, 19, of Tampa, was scheduled to appear in City Court. Police said he was backing his vehicle when it hit a parked car owned by Richard Jones and then he reportedly left the scene. He was arrested later.

Police also reported the arrest of Albert D. Barnhart, 20, of 21 Ravine Street, early today on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He was summoned to appear before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

Bill Signed To Create Jobs For 200,000

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon today signed into law legislation designed to create up to 200,000 new jobs for some of the 5.5 million unemployed Americans. Nixon vetoed another job-creating bill June 29, but at the time promised he would approve the bill he signed today.

The bill Nixon vetoed would have created public works jobs, an approach Nixon has rejected as dead-end. The bill he signed today, however, would provide $2.25 billion over two years for 90 per cent of the cost of creating new jobs in essential public services such as police and fire protection, health, education, highway maintenance, recreation and environmental projects.

Veterans who served in Indochina or Korea since 1964 will be given special consideration when the new jobs are filled. There are an estimated 350,000 unemployed Vietnam veterans.

After each charge was fired Saturday night, Carey Ellis, chief of the job for Controlled Explosives, went to the span with a cutting torch and finally it tumbled into the murky Hudson.

The four-lane bridge, built in 1923 and named for World War I hero Parker Dunn, was replaced by a more modern span a few hundred yards to the north.

It took five separate charges to send the section abutting the Albany shoreline into the water. A spokesman for Controlled Explosives Inc., the firm that took on the job of dismantling the 1,000-foot, 6,000-ton bridge, explained that charges Saturday night were smaller than those

A Bit of Albany History Goes to Bottom of Hudson

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Aused in a blast last week on bit of Albany history rests today in the murky waters of the Hudson River — but not for long. The final 100-foot, 66-ton section of the Dunn Memorial Bridge spanning the river between Albany and Rensselaer was blown into the water Saturday night.

The 48-year-old span did not give up easily, however. It took five separate charges to send the section abutting the Albany shoreline into the water. A spokesman for Controlled Explosives Inc., the firm that took on the job of dismantling the 1,000-foot, 6,000-ton bridge, explained that charges Saturday night were smaller than those

Band Concert Set Wednesday

KINGSTON — A band concert will be performed by the Kingston Concert Band A.F.M. No. 215 Wednesday on Academy Green at 8 p. m., Marlin Morrette conducting.

The program will feature marches, polkas, and opera, show and contemporary music.

Kentucky Man Tells How He Helps Shrink Painful Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

California Problems Invade Boston

HEAD-TO-HEAD — Horace Clarke (20) of the N. Y. Yankees and Luis Aparicio (11) Boston Red Sox shortstop, appear to be having a tete a tete at second base in first inning of game in Yankee Stadium Sunday. In fact, Clarke is stealing second base as Aparicio makes late tag after taking throw from catcher Duane Josephson. Yankees swept the series, winning the game, 3-2. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

McLain Is Disabled; Suffers Shoulder Injury

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For observers of Denny McLain, the signs were there for about a month—the increasing number of home run balls, the declining number of strikeouts and the tendency to go with the breaking pitch instead of the fast ball that helped him win 110 games with 1,028 strikeouts in five years.

Trevino Donates Half to Charity

SOUTHPORT, England (UPI) — The first place money of $13,200 meant so little to Lee Trevino he gave half of it away to charity. The 100th British Open title was the thing he prized.

"I told you I would gladly give up one of my U.S. titles for this one, but now I don't have to," the merry Mexican said after his triumph at Royal Birkdale Saturday.

Trevino, after blowing most of a three-shot lead with a double bogey on 17, gained his place among the immortals of golf in a nerve tingling finish that finally hinged on the very last putt of the championship.

When he tapped in that two-footer to win by one stroke from Taiwan's Liang Huan Lu, Trevino became the first man since Ben Hogan in 1953 to win both the British and U.S. titles in the same year.

His final round of 70, matched by little "Mr. Lu," whose performance was the best ever by an Asian in the world's oldest golf championship, gave Trevino a 14-under-par total of 278.

Tony Jacklin, the 1969 British and 1970 U.S. champion, courageously battled into third place although still struggling to find his true form. He had a 71 for 280 on the sun-baked par 73 course.

Craig Deyon, born in Pennsylvania but a British resident for most of his 24 years, took fourth place on a 69 for 282.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, unable to raise his game sufficiently to do more than threaten intermittently, finished at 283 along with Masters winner Charles Coody. Nicklaus shot a final round 69 and Coody, who improved a couple of shots every round, did a 68.

All-Star Game at Detroit, night, national TV

By United Press International
Dissent took its toll on the California Angels. Now the Boston Red Sox are beginning to feel the pain.

The Angels, pre-season favorites to win the American League's Western Division title, were torn apart by the actions of Alex Johnson, last year's batting champion. With the All-Star break beginning today, the Angels are 16 1/2 games behind first-place Oakland in the West.

Boston, which had closed ground on the Baltimore Orioles in the Eastern race, was rocked this weekend by charges of favoritism leveled at superstar Carl Yastrzemski by Billy Conigliaro. The Red Sox lost a three-game series to the New York Yankees during the weekend, capped by a 3-2 loss Sunday. That loss, combined with Baltimore's 7-1 triumph over Cleveland, left Boston 1 1/2 games behind in the East.

Conigliaro's blast at Yastrzemski came after Tony Conigliaro, Billy's older brother and a member of the Angels, announced his retirement unexpectedly because of eye trouble.

Billy accused Yastrzemski of having his brother traded from Boston to California last season and said that Yastrzemski probably urged that he (Billy) be traded. Billy blamed Yastrzemski for having him reduced to a platoon player, sharing the outfield with Joe Lahoud.

"I'm sick of it all," said Yastrzemski. "Let's just play the game. He is just alibiing for his lack of ability."

Adding to the Red Sox woes was a blast leveled by outfielder Reggie Smith, another of the Boston stars, at Billy: "I don't want to play with him anymore," said Smith. "The club should take disciplinary action. If he doesn't want to play anymore, let him go and quit like his brother did. Joe Lahoud should play in his place every day. At least Joe will be acting in the best interests of this club. We can't have a winning team with his acting this way."

Billy left for weekend military duty after making his charges Friday night and will rejoin the club on Wednesday after the All-Star break. Manager Eddie Kasko refused to say what course of action the club will take.

"I'm very worried about this situation," said Kasko. "There's too much at stake to let something like this demoralize us. We've come too far."

Horace Clarke singled home Gene Michael from second base with one out in the ninth inning Sunday to lead the Yankees past the Sox. Michael opened the inning with a single and took second on a sacrifice.

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota swept Kansas City 6-5 and 7-1. California beat Oakland 6-3 after losing the opener 3-2. Milwaukee and Chicago split 10 decisions and Washington edged Detroit 4-3.

Brooks Robinson had a three run double and Dave Johnson added a two-run homer as Baltimore exploded for six runs in the seventh inning to beat the Indians.

The Dodgers collected 16 hits in routing the Giants for All-Downing's 11th victory of the season. Manny Mota, Willie Davis and Joe Ferguson each collected three hits for the Dodgers, who reduced the Giants' lead in the NL West to six games. Bobby Bonds had a three-run homer for the Giants.

Bob Gibson pitched a four-hitter and Ted Simmons drove in four runs to pace the Cardinals' victory over Houston. It was only Gibson's second victory in five starts since he came off the disabled list on June 20. Cesar Cedeño had a homer for the Astros.

Milt Pappas pitched a four-hitter and Johnny Callison drove in both runs as the Cubs defeated the Padres in the first game of their doubleheader. Callison drove in a run with a sacrifice fly in the fourth and homered in the seventh.

Ivan Murrell and Ed Spiezio each drove in a pair of runs and Clarence Gaston homered as the Padres bounced back to win the nightcap. Joe Pepitone homered for the Cubs in the nightcap, 7-5. Atlanta at Pittsburgh.

Johnson Stars; Mets Lose Twice

By United Press International
It was a holiday weekend for Deron Johnson of the Philadelphia Phillies but strictly a lost one for the New York Mets.

Johnson, a 31-year-old veteran, had one of those streaks players dream about over the weekend as he clubbed five home runs, including three in the Phillies' 11-5 rout of the Montreal Expos Sunday. Johnson also hammered two homers Saturday as the Phillies took a doubleheader from the Expos.

Four of Johnson's homers came in succession, a feat that earned him a place in the record book next to Lou Gehrig, Willie Mays and other illustrious sluggers. He homered in his last time at bat Saturday night and homered in his first three times at bat Sunday. On his fourth appearance to the plate Sunday, with a chance to set the record of having homered in five consecutive at bats, he struck out.

"I'm a streak hitter and I guess I always will be," said Johnson. "I don't get upset or worried when I'm not hitting. I was 1-for-45 at the start of the season and that would have put a lot of guys up the wall. But I know I can hit and sooner or later I will get out of the slump."

The Mets wish they could be as optimistic as Johnson. The Cincinnati Reds sent the Mets reeling to their sixth straight defeat by taking four games over the weekend, including a doubleheader Sunday, 7-2 and 5-3. The sorrowful Mets are now 10 games behind the division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League East.

Gary Nolan allowed only six hits in pitching the Reds to victory in the opener. Cincinnati broke the game open with a six-run rally in the fifth inning that featured a costly throwing error by shortstop Bud Harrelson and a run-scoring double by Wood Woodward.

Tony Perez accounted for all the Reds' runs in the nightcap as he homered twice and singled. Tom Seaver, the ace of the Mets' staff, was the victim of Perez' second homer, a three-run blast in the eighth inning which wiped out a 3-2 Met lead.

In other action, Los Angeles whipped San Francisco, 11-3. St. Louis beat Houston, 7-3, and Chicago blanked San Diego, 2-0, in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the nightcap, 7-5. Atlanta at Pittsburgh.

burgh was rained out and the game will not be rescheduled unless it has a vital bearing on the final standings.

Eichelberger Wins

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Take it from Dave Eichelberger, the money may be fine, but it's no fun finishing second.

"I'd been there twice this year, and let me tell you, it's no fun," the 37-year-old former Walker Cupper from Waco, Tex., said Sunday after scoring his first victory on the Professional Golf Tour.

"It really feels good to win," he said. The initial win came in the $125,000 Greater Milwaukee Open and it was worth $2,500 for Eichelberger, who climbed to seventh on the PGA money list this year with $88,232.

He emerged from a jam-packed field with a birdie and a par on the final two holes to edge Australian Bob Shaw and rookie Ralph Johnston, another Texan, by one stroke.

Johnston missed his chance to force a sudden death playoff when his three-foot birdie putt on the final hole skidded to the left.

Eichelberger finished with a 68 for the round and a 72-hole score of 270. Johnston, who carded a 67 Sunday, and Shaw, who had a 66, finished at 271. They each won $11,575.

One stroke further back was Australia's Bruce Crampton and Rod Funseth, the third-round leader, fell to 72 in the final round to finish fifth at 273.

Five pros — Paul Moran, Lionel Hebert, Roy Pace, Lou Graham and Dean Refram — tied at 274 and three more, including defending champion Dean Beman and 1969 GMO king Ken Still, were at 275. They, along with Done Bies, won $6,625.

It was the third time in four years that the GMO conflicted with the British Open and Eichelberger noted that 18 members of the tour elected to go to England.

"At least eight of them would have been here," he said. "It's the kind of a course (Lee) Trevino would have liked. I'm glad he saw fit not to come."

Trevino elected to come here in 1968 after he had won the U.S. Open, but was virtually forced to go to Britain after winning the U.S. and Canadian opens this year. He won the British Open Saturday.

"The winner would have been two or three strokes better if some of those players had come here," Eichelberger said.

Conigliaro Explains Move; Fears 'Losing His Mind'

BOSTON (AP) — Tony Conigliaro, claiming that the eye which was hurt severely in 1967 is failing again and that he feels "on the edge" of losing his mind, has retired from baseball.

The once-fearful slugger, who starred for the Boston Red Sox until traded to California last October, announced his decision on the West Coast Saturday and then flew home to Boston.

"This is the end of Tony C. I've learned that health is more important than money," he told a couple of sports writers who were on hand for his arrival, along with his mother and father and young brother, Richie.

"I just can't see the ball," the 26-year-old outfielder said. "I have no depth perception in the left eye at all. I have a blind spot."

"This was no sudden decision. I've been thinking about retiring for some time."

Later Tony's mother told The Associated Press:

"I knew Tony was playing with a blind spot. The doctors told him there was nothing they could do. It's a miracle he did so well. I'm kind of relieved that he's retired. Tony said it feels like 100 pounds has been lifted from him."

Signed by the Red Sox after a great schoolboy career in the Boston area, Conigliaro spent only one season in the minors before joining the parent club and hitting 24 homers in 1964.

He led the league with 32 homers the next year, hit 28 in superstar Carl Yastrzemski by Billy Conigliaro. The Red Sox lost a three-game series to the New York Yankees during the weekend, capped by a 3-2 loss Sunday. That loss, combined with Baltimore's 7-1 triumph over Cleveland, left Boston 1 1/2 games behind in the East.

Nationals Win Babe Ruth District Tournament

KINGSTON only twice to get by the first an on and off rain and was all through the frame and with that. It's on to Jamestown for the test after three teams dropped out of the tournament and forced out of the schedule. The local diamond team beat Beacon 7-6, in the final game of the District One Babe Ruth Tournament yesterday at Dietz Stadium to advance to the State championship later this month. Kingston had to play and win.

Beacon rallied somewhat with fact that reliever Dave Eraca three in the bottom of the second, the big blast being a round tripper by Bill DiNapoli. The losers kept chipping away with two in the fourth and one in the sixth and actually wound up hitting Kingston, nine to eight. However it was too little too late for Beacon despite the short.

John Stote was the winner for Kingston while Steve Thomas took the defeat. The Americans, who advanced to the second round on the strength of Kevin Coughlin's no-hitter, were shut out on six hits by Tom Powers of Beacon. Kingston pitcher Chuck Bouton allowed only five hits, but two, a single by Eraca and a double by Powers, came back to back and gave Beacon its run in the first inning. Duane Carey tripled for Kingston.

Braves Save Ship—Beat Beacon but Lose Ground

Scoring in every inning, the Kingston Braves managed to salvage one game of a disastrous weekend Sunday as they ripped the Beacon Astros, 17-7, here.

But the damage had already been done. New Windsor beat Kingston at Dietz Stadium, 5-3, second straight loss and dropped the locals into second place in the Hudson Valley Rookies League's Northern Division.

Kingston's good pitching was missing throughout the weekend and only a rejuvenated offense attack Sunday enabled the Braves to pull out a victory.

Poughkeepsie, which started safety display including home runs by Dave Horton, Ray Zappone, and Skip Lyons. John Carter came alive with three hits and Horton chimed in with three more. Schomaker and catcher Bernie Schaeffer Jr. were the only Braves to go hitless.

Schaeffer was making his first appearance of the season behind the plate. He was pressed into service when Lyons was spiked against New Windsor. Skip played rightfield yesterday.

All but two of the Astro runs were earned as Schomaker suffered his worst outing of the season yet still gained a victory. New Windsor had five runs Saturday before the Braves could get going. Five Kingston errors aided the Rockets' cause against pitcher Tom Gallo.

The Braves put all their runs together in the fourth when Jerry Hawkins walked, Pete Watzka singled, and Chick Boice walked, loading the sacks.

Don Hastings was passed to force in one run, Charlie Moore knocked in another on a fielder's choice, and Rich Koegel did the same with the same result.

Gallo allowed seven hits, fanned two, and walked three in dropping his second game. He's won three.

Tom was the only Kingston swatter to get two hits in the contest.

The Braves visit the Newburgh Nationals on Saturday and the Cornwall Missiles on Sunday before returning home on July 21 for a Dietz night tilt.

Area Bowlers Show $ Gains

CORTLAND Two Ulster County teams finished in the money at the recently completed 22nd Annual New York State American Legion Bowling Tournament here.

Lamouree Hackett Post 72 of Saugerties was 18th in the handicap division with 3036 and a $60 prize. The team consisted of Orville Whitaker, Earl Martin, Joe Heidecamp, Sam Shapiro, and Joe Kramer.

The other Ulster winner was the Kingston Post 150 which rolled 2998 for a $60 prize. Vince Schrader, Phil Gromoll, Al Sonnenberg, Don Kenner and Jim Noble made up the squad.

Whitaker totaled $37 all told after scoring 661 in singles, 1880 for all events, and $12 for being on the Saugerties team.

Harry Wiands of Kingston collected $35 for singles, all-events, and doubles with Bud Greenburg. Jim Hannon of Sullivan Shafter Post 176 of New Paltz scored 661 in singles for $15 while Joe Sills and Sam Turk of Kingston Post won $15 and $5 respectively.

Don Koeppen of Kingston Post tallied 1874 all-events on the strength of a 632 scratch in the team category for $10.

Phil and Dewey Blair captured the scratch doubles championship with 1235 for $100.

Zeeh Gains in Tourney

Bill Zeeh, Ulster County Community College tennis star, slashed his way into the quarter-final round of the men's singles division of the Ulster County Tennis Tournament with two wins over the weekend at Forest Park.

On Saturday, Zeeh, the tourney's number one seed in men's play, defeated Ken Ward, John A. Coleman High School tennis coach, 6-3, 6-2. In Sunday's action, the UCCC star downed Buster Narum, 6-3, 6-3.

In women's singles play, fourth-seeded Chris Miller beat Paula Hutton, 6-2, 6-1.

Top-seeded Jeff Davis and Ruth Goldin downed John and Ann Roberts, 6-3, 6-1, in mixed doubles, while Tom Provenzano and Chris Miller defeated Dick and Sandy Ihly, 6-0, 6-1. Dick Smith and Mary Fowler beat Carol and Ed Lindhurst, 6-3, 6-0, while Marshall Lipton and Scrappy Hutton topped Mike Corman and Pam Hutton, 6-1, 6-2.

Ron Woods and Ken Ward eased over Chip and Milt Grover, 6-2, 6-4 in men's doubles. Other men's doubles scores were: Jerry Leatherman and Hank Sykes over Bill and Bob Darling, 6-0, 6-0; Bill Carr and Marshall Lipton defeated Rich Griffin and Tony Badalato, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5; Kal Kalleberg and Harry Bubnick topped Avery Smith and Bill Spangenberg, 7-9, 6-3, 7-5; Tom Provenzano and Pete Writer over Ron Woods and Ken Ward, 6-4, 6-2.

Other men's singles scores: (Saturday) Narum over Badalto, 6-1, 7-5; Rich Griffin over Nat Borsky, 6-1, 7-5; Avery Smith beat Harry Bubnick, 6-3, 6-3; Bill Carr topped Randy Bosch, 6-3, 6-1; Leatherman downed Tony Pagnucco, 6-1, 6-2; Jeff Davis topped Pete Boyd, 6-4, 6-4; Mike Corman over Bill Schaffer, 6-0, 4-6, 6-2; Arun Bhagwat downed Hank Sykes, 6-1, 6-0.

(Sunday) — Provenzano over Bill Spangenberg, 6-0, 6-0; Lipton over Goldin, 7-5, 6-1; Stan Leyden defeated Ed Decker, 6-6, 6-3, 6-4; Gordon Krajna beat George Martin, 6-2, 8-6. Scheduled for play today in men's singles are: Leyden-Corman and Arun Bhagwat. Lipton and Griffin will face each other tomorrow. Only one women's singles match has been played with the balance of matches set to begin Thursday. Women's doubles are also slated for Thursday. Men's mixed, seniors and women's doubles matches are scheduled for the weekend.

Rosendale Outslugs New Paltz, 11 to 7

It was a combination of long oall slugging and four-hit pitching that gave Rosendale an 11-7 victory over New Paltz in a City Baseball League game Sunday at Dietz Stadium.

Rosendale jumped out to an early lead as Gordy Bell and George Wallack teamed up to hit back-to-back triples resulting in a four-run first inning. In the bottom half of the inning, New Paltz came back to score two runs as Rosendale's Ed Mercer threw the ball away twice, and third baseman Wallack booted a ground ball.

But both Wallack and Mercer redeemed themselves, as Wallack went four-for-four at the plate, and Mercer gave up only three more hits. Bruce Jerry, Rosendale's second baseman knocked in three RBIs with a long double over the center-fielder's head.

New Paltz had its big inning in the sixth, scoring five runs on only a pair of infield hits. Rosendale was still suffering from fielding problems, but its four-run first and six-run fourth inning were enough to pull it through.

Joe Williams was the big man with the bat for New Paltz connecting for three singles out of four at bats, and teammate Mike Snider had a pair of RBIs.

Experts Check Death Car

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI)—Experts today examined the burned-out wreckage of a power-laden Ferrari car which carried Millionaire's son Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico to a fiery death in the 200 miles of Nuernberg auto race Sunday.

The 31-year-old Rodriguez led the pack in the first of the two runs of the Inter-Series competition open for machines of unlimited cylinder capacity when his fire engine-red 12-cylinder Ferrari 512M suddenly skidded off the track in the 12th lap, struck a guard rail and a wall and burst into flames.

Track guards immediately pulled Rodriguez out of the flaming wreckage and an ambulance rushed him to Nuernberg's municipal hospital.

Both the prosecutor's office and police said the exact cause of the accident has yet to be determined.

The driver of a Porsche 906, following Rodriguez at the time of the crash, slightly grazed the burning Ferrari, but regained control and escaped unhurt.

Rodriguez's brother, Ricardo, lost his life in an accident during practice runs for the 1962 Grand Prix of Mexico.

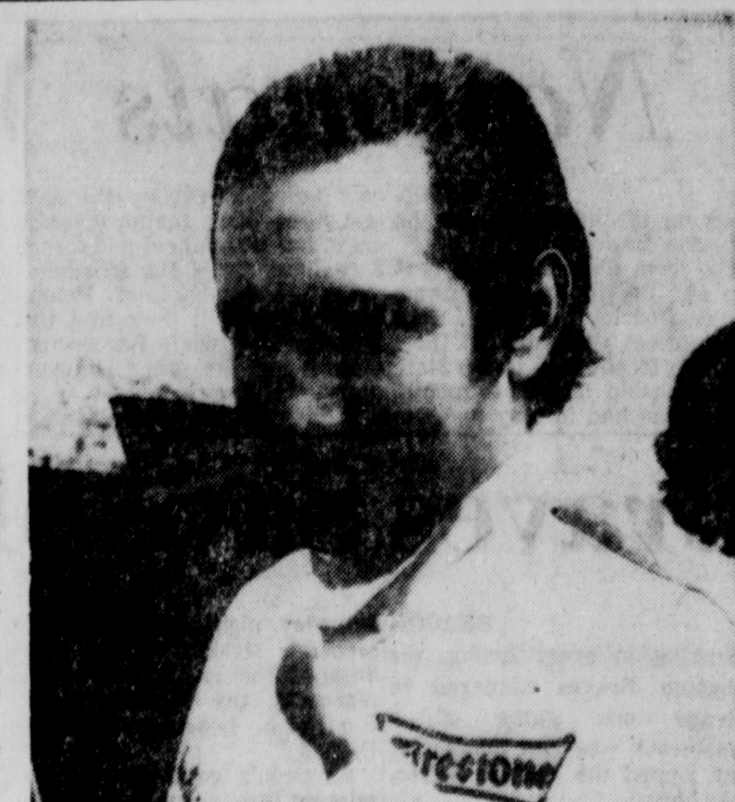

After Ricardo's death, his father persuaded Pedro to give up racing altogether.

But Pedro could not resist the glamor of the racing circuits and he began climbing behind the wheels of speedy cars again in 1963.

Pedro mostly shone in sports car events. Last year he won the Daytona 24-hours, the Brands Hatch, the Watkins Glen six hours, and the Monza 1,000 kilometers for the John Wyer Porsche 917 team.

His victories this year included Daytona, Monza and Spa and the Austrian 1,000 kilometers June 28.

Pedro, above all, was known as one of the world's best drivers on rain-soaked tracks. He lost his life on a circuit on which not one drop of rain had fallen in recent weeks.

THEN TRAGEDY — Mexican racing hero Pedro Rodriguez gives thumbs up sign prior to start of the "200 Miles of Nuernberg" race in Nuernberg, Germany, Sunday. During the 12th round of the race he lost control of his Ferrari 912M while braking before a curve. His auto hit a wall and burst into flames. Rodriguez was rushed to a hospital, but died there of severe burns. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

Team McLaren Scores

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI)—Having discovered the truism that you can't win them all, Team McLaren has set out to prove that you can win nearly all of them.

Peter Revson rumbled across the finish line Sunday with a sagging suspension, 17 seconds ahead of teammate Denny Hulme, to give Team McLaren its second 1-2 victory in three races in the 1971 Canadian-American Challenge Cup series.

Jackie Stewart, whose Lola T260 was the only car that could keep up with the McLarens, led briefly but then a succession of problems, capped by a broken shock absorber, knocked him out of the race 13 laps from the end.

Stewart, who has been suffering glandular fever since before winning the French Grand Prix last Sunday, flew immediately back to his home in Geneva to enter a hospital for treatment before next Sunday's British Grand Prix.

Stewart started the race in third position behind the orange McLaren M8F, but quickly whipped into second behind Revson when team leader Hulme began dropping back.

On the seventh lap Stewart flashed past Revson in the first turn. By lap 13 he had extended his lead to four seconds but then came in with a punctured tire. After the tire was changed, the car's battery went dead and before he got back to the chase, Stewart was 16th, two laps behind Revson.

Stewart continued charging but ailing brakes cost him another two-lap pit stop. He came back running so hard he set a new lap record of 117.3 miles an hour before the shock absorber broke.

"I don't believe in giving up in a race, no matter what I am running," said Stewart, leading in points for the world drivers' championship. "As soon as you do that, you begin to get used to the idea."

Revson, the handsome New York heir to a cosmetics fortune, led for 67 laps on the

2.6-mile Road Atlanta course with brake problems of his own, but still set a record average 111.1 m.p.h.

This is the first year Revson has driven for Team McLaren, which has dominated the Can-Am series for five years.

Revson said he backed off slightly when Stewart passed him in hopes his brake system would revive. "It's a good thing Jackie had that flat tire or it would have been a real horse race," he said.

Revson said the suspension began to fail midway in the race and finally cracked on the last lap. He coasted across the finish line, pulled the car off onto the grass, got out and began idly kicking the tires.

"I couldn't have made another lap," he said.

Lothar Motschenbacher, the Can-Am veteran who finished second overall to Hulme in the series last year, was third in his McLaren M8D a lap behind.

Tony Adamowicz was fourth in a McLaren M8B and Milt Minter fifth in a Porsche 917.

Friendly Inn Rally Wins

SAUGERTIES Blue Division leading Friendly Inn rallied for four runs in the top of the seventh to edge the Knights of Columbus, 8-7, and maintain its first-place slot in Saugerties Slow Pitch Softball action. In other Blue Division games, Boo's Tavern put an end to Eveready Beverages' four-game winning streak, and took undisputed possession of second place with a 12-9 victory. Also, the last place Helmsmoortel Insurers demolished Rotron, 26-1.

In White Division games, second-place Michael's Barbers whipped division leading Ted's Esso, 11-1. Youth Center downed Jug's F Troop, 10-4, and A.J. Scarselli's shutout Statewide Carpeting, 10-0.

Ed Sinnott connected twice for home runs for the K. of C., but strong hitting in the clutch by Wayne Dederick, who had two doubles and a triple, and Joe McCutcheon, who had three hits including a game-winning R.B.I. paced Friendly Inn.

Sponsor Boo Schaffer smacked a two-run triple in the sixth inning to give the Tavernites the lead for keeps. Schaffer also had a double, while Bob Schoenbacher knocked in 3 runs with a single, double and a homer. Ray Scally led the hitting for Eveready with a single and a pair of doubles.

Tom Rizzi pitched a two-hitter for Michael's Barbers, but one of the hits was a homer by John Hinchey which spoiled Rizzi's shutout. Tom Conner homered for the Barbers. Youth Center's upset victory over F

Troop was sparked by Jamie Todaro's single and home run.

The last place Insurers scored the biggest rout of the season, as Bob Carpenter nurlled a one-hitter, and the two Smiths, Bud and Hank, each had five hits including a grand slam for Bud. Last place in the White Division was retained by Statewide Carpeting as A.J. Scarselli's won his third straight. Pitcher Joe Palumbo helped his own cause with a two-run homer, and Frank Petromale had his fourth homer of the season.

Mouse Nips Foe

SAUGERTIES The ducks were on the pond but Mouse kept them there as C. & S. Shoe Co. edged Glasco A.C., 4-3, in Saugerties Fast Pitch Red Division play.

Mouse is Mouse Wolven and he was on the mound for the winners as they took a two-run lead into the bottom of the seventh. But with two outs the advantage had been cut in half and Glasco had the tying runs on base with dangerous Ray Lasher at the plate.

Wolven was ready for him though and fanned the Glasco slugger to end the game.

A walk, Mickey Iannone's double and an error produced the first run for C. & S. The eventual winning run came in on another error in the top of the seventh.

Wolven struck out six and walked two to get the win. Losing pitcher Frank Allen fanned three and passed three.

Another league game was decided by forfeit, Paul's Shell beating Buono-McConekey Funeral Home.

Road Runners Topple Mobil

KINGSTON The State Road Runners came from behind, scoring three runs in the last two innings to defeat Lamoureux Mobil 13-12 in City Slow Pitch American Division B League at Hasbrouck Park.

In other B League action at Block Park, The Place downed Anchorage II, 12-6. Stauble's Nationwide beat White Eagle, 14-6, and, in a game called after four innings, The Jungle smashed Cablevision, 13-0.

The Runners' out-hit Lamoureux, 12 to 11, including a home run by Joe Gal, and three hits by Glen Stoutenberg. The losing Lamoureux had some long-distance slugging by John Shannon, Ed Schmidt and Ray Singley, who hit a home run, a triple, and a two-bagger, respectively.

Horace Walker whacked a triple and a double for The Place, and teammate John Fiore had a triple as the winners out-hit Anchorage II, 11-9. Shortstop Jack Hickey blasted two homers, and pitcher Roger Brandt had three hits including a triple, as Stauble's out-hit White Eagle, 17-12.

Shortstop Don Hobart hit a home run, and center-fielder Newt Madison got a triple for two of the 16 hits for The Jungle. Cablevision only managed one hit, a double by Rod Newman, before the game was ended by the 13-run rule.

Brinnier Wins at Sawyerkill

SAUGERTIES Billy Brinnier was a repeat winner in the net event and a trio shared the gross title in the recent Saugerties-Ulster County Lions Club Golf championship at Sawyerkill.

Brinnier shot an 85-87 to edge Ed Van Voorhis (91-23) and Jake Welsh (88-20) by one stroke.

Brub Cody and Bob Jeusen tied for fourth and fifth with 69s. Cody shot 95-25 and Jeusen 86-17.

Pete Fischer, Brian Smith, and Bill Van Aken were co-winners with 77 gross.

Dennis Beaver shot 78 and George Seravo went around in 79.

Over 120 golfers took part in the day-long activities which featured a hole-in-one contest and banquet with guest speaker Charles J. Tiano, Freeman Sports Editor.

In other Saugerties Lions news, installation of officers took place at the home of William D. Brinnier.

Outgoing president Tom Martin turned over the gavel to Robert Schirmer. Other new officers are: Anthony Buono, Irving Dreishpoon, Joseph Wopner, Robert Barnhardt, Hugo Knauer, Edward Hellenschmidt and Robert McConekey.

Your Horoscope

Tuesday, July 13

GENERAL TENDENCIES: July 21) You have to safeguard only through relying upon your reputation in every way perceptions and hunches instead of your own. Handle a civic of your reasoning will you be matter in a clever way. Stop able to gain the goodwill and respect of others. If you try to impress them with your charm, they may become suspicious. Fast talk gets you nothing. Keep in tune.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Some associates are too busy with own affairs to listen to your ideas today. Await a better time to contact them. Take time to get your appearance improved. Avoid a person who is trying to sell something you don't want.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Although others may be imposing upon you, plan how to stop this. Strengthen your willpower. Obtain the data you need and make the future brighter. Stop dreaming so much.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Gain goodwill of a good friend by not forcing your ideas, but listening carefully. Being helpful to an associate who has anxieties is wise. Think fairly and logically. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to or you could ruin clothing, and cause damage.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Cultural and artistic matters today can bring you pleasure and satisfaction. Don't spend too much money for recreation. Hang on to the fine aspects you now possess.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A close tie is trying to get you in a big argument, so keep mum and save the situation. Take measures that will improve the appearance of your home. Don't get so excited over nothing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking cleverly now and can make necessary changes, whether in business or at home. Make sure utilities are operating properly. Take no chances in travel. Show that you have wisdom.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your hunches are better than your judgement today but you

Oswald: "While we were discussing lead directing doubles a couple of weeks ago, we didn't get around to the Lightner slam double."

Jim: "The theory of this double, which was invented about the time I was born by Theodore A. Lightner, is that, when your opponents bid a slam under their own power, you won't get many chances to set them. Therefore, the double of a freely bid slam would call for an unusual lead."

Oswald: "Today's hand shows the Lightner slam double at its best. North and South reach a very sound contract of six spades. With normal defense, a heart will be opened and East will take the first trick. South will ruff the second heart, draw trumps and claim his contract."

Jim: "Now, see what happens when East doubles. West knows that he is supposed to make an unusual lead. His normal lead would be his partner's suit. His next choice is the unbid suit, clubs. The most unusual lead would have to be diamonds, the suit bid by dummy. He leads a diamond. East ruffs and the almost ironclad slam has been beaten."

Oswald: "This was a very safe Lightner double. The bidding had marked South with a singleton heart. In addition, East knew that his opponents had no place to run. It also shows the value of this bid. East and West have picked up 200 points instead of losing 1,430."

Timely Quotes

The countries of Western Europe . . . are not movie stars who change fiancées every six months. If we get married, it is forever. So we must be serious about it.

—French President Pompidou, on the entry of Britain into the European Common Market.

The papers portray President Johnson as wanting to wage an all-out military offensive, and that's just not true. I am a sensitive observer of the man. I saw him try to limit the bombing, turn down the joint chiefs' manpower requests and turn down bombing Haiphong. He wanted to end the war and get a negotiated peace. Hubert Humphrey, on the N.Y. Times printing of a secret Pentagon study on the origins of the Vietnam war.

We have to get at the cause of the frustration, anxiety or whatever may be leading the young to give up on the system and leads step by step into another world which may seem better but which turns out worse.

—President Nixon, discussing America's drug problem with religious leaders.

The Nixon administration has a great deal more confidence in the judgment of the chief's manpower requests and in the judgment of the New York Times. A country does not conduct its diplomacy on the pages of a newspaper. —Vice President Agnew.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

LIVING GIFT: (Q.) My cousins live on a farm. About a year ago I gave them four rabbits. I thought they needed some animals and would love the rabbits.

That was the biggest mistake of my life. They never have been interested in the rabbits and don't take good care of them. Yesterday we went up there and my rabbits were starving. They had no food or water in their cages.

How can I get my rabbits back? Please rush your answer. It's 11 at night and I can't sleep. My eyes are all red from crying. Please help me and my starving rabbits. — Sleepless in California.

(A.) Ask your cousins to give the rabbits back to you. Tell them you miss them. Promise to take good care of them. I believe they'll be glad to let you have them.

In the future, think before you give a living gift. Here are some things to think about:

A rabbit or a dog or a cat or a goldfish is different from a book or a box of candy. It needs constant care. And not everyone is willing to give a pet the care it should have.

You can give a book or a box of candy to the wrong person and little harm is done if the gift is ignored. An animal is different.

When you give a living gift, be sure you're giving it to the right person.

FIRST BRA.: (Q.) Is 10 years old, old enough for a bra? Underneath my arms I'm 28 1/2 inches around. — Not Yet in Rochester, Mich.

(A.) Some 10-year-old girls wear "training bras." If you think you'd feel more comfortable in one, whether you physically need it or not, ask your mother to take you shopping. I'm sure she will understand and cooperate.

Pilot Season Like Horse Race

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After seven pilots for television, Marvin Kaplan is finally off the ground and flying with a new fall series.

His seventh pilot for a series, "The Chicago Teddy Bears," a spoof on the gangster era, was signed by CBS for a Friday night spot.

"It's the first pilot I've ever done that's sold," said Kaplan. "The pilot season here is like a horse race. It's much better to go to Santa Anita and try to win."

Kaplan was last in "Meet Millie" 15 years ago, but his squeaky voice, timorous manner and round face are known to millions through his movie roles and numerous guest appearances on television. He is the voice of Choo-Choo on the cartoon "Top Cat."

He plays the bookkeeper to a speakeasy owner whose establishment is the target of a mob takeover. That, in fact, will be the running theme of the series—how speakeasy owner Dean Jones keeps out of the mob's clutches.

"I think maybe one way to cope with violence is to laugh at it, and that's what we're trying to do," Kaplan said. "And it goes along with the trend toward nostalgia. You can't laugh at what's going on today—you have to go back to another era to laugh and to make your points."

Kaplan, a native of Brooklyn, got his start in films when Katharine Hepburn spotted him in a play at the Circle Theater in Los Angeles. That led to a role in "Adam's Rib," and to such movies as "I Can Get It For You Wholesale," "The Reformer and the Redhead," and "Behave Yourself," in which he played a gangster with Sheldon Leonard.

He has written scripts for "Mod Squad" and "The Bill Cosby Show" and is active in the Players Ring Theater and little theater work. "I start to panic if I can't act," he said, for Theater Rapport. He said, "That's why I join so many groups. You can't practice acting by yourself."

He is one of the founders of the sad one."

U.S. to Stock Thailand With Gunships

WASHINGTON (AP) — While reducing forces in Vietnam, the United States is preparing to add more gunships in Thailand for the next hunting season against Communist supply routes in Laos.

The plans, involving a $56-million modification program, indicate U.S. airpower may be more than 25,000 North Vietnamese supply trucks reported destroyed or damaged in Laos since last Nov. 1.

The North Vietnamese supply effort is hampered by current heavy rains along the trail, but Hanoi is expected to crank up a big new supply push when dry weather returns in the fall.

U.S. authorities are especially concerned about stemming any heavy flow of arms or ammunition from North Vietnam to Communist troops in the South during the coming dry season.

American combat strength in Vietnam will be reduced so far by then that remaining U.S. troops, principally in base areas, will be vulnerable if the enemy should attack in force.

The Air Force had about a dozen AC130A gunships in action earlier this year, but the number is slightly smaller now because some are being refitted to improve their ability to detect and hit enemy trucks at night and in all kinds of weather.

The plan is to convert six later-model C130E transports, bringing the total of this type of gunship to about 18 flying out of Thailand by fall.

The gunships throw a huge volume of fire. Aimed out of side pots, their miniguns spew from 3,000 to 6,000 rounds a minute, another pair of 20-millimeter Gatling guns discharge about 2,500 rounds a minute, and a 40-millimeter cannon shoots 120 shells a minute at targets on the ground.

The gunships are equipped with night sensors, armor protection, low-light-level TV, improved tracking radar and updated infra-red equipment for sensing heat emanating from truck engines.

Fail to Halt Orange Day

Bomb Blasts in Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A series of bomb blasts caused damage and injuries in Belfast early today but failed to dampen Protestant enthusiasm for their traditional Orange Day celebrations marking a 300-year-old victory over the Roman Catholics.

British forces — 11,000 of them — were on guard throughout Northern Ireland to try to stave off trouble between the two religious groups at parades and celebrations underway in 19 cities. More than 100,000 Protestants were taking part in the various celebrations.

Seven blasts rocked Belfast before dawn today, destroying two drapery shops, knocking out the doors and windows of a Chinese restaurant and demolishing a row of telephone booths.

Buffalo Girl, 5, Kidnaped; A Mercy Plea From Parents

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Five-year-old Wendy Chase was kidnaped near her home in a northwest section of the city Sunday. Police said they "had no idea whatsoever" as to why the brown-haired, pigtailed youngster was abducted.

A three-year-old companion said a car pulled up near the pair at Military Road and Ritt Street and the driver told Wendy to get in, that her mother wanted her home for supper.

The little girl told police the abductor was a white man in his 70's.

Police said the FBI was informed of the kidnapping in case it involved the crossing of state lines.

Wendy's parents appealed for their daughter's safe return in pleas over local radio and television stations.

Joseph Chase said "please return her for God's sake. My wife is a diabetic and she's pregnant and due at any moment."

In the Bryson Street area where both Protestants and Roman Catholics live, a bomb ripped through a private home, injuring a young girl. Another bomb destroyed an electricity transformer at Pinaghey Field, where thousands of Orangemen were gathering later in the day for the main parade celebrating King William's victory over the Roman Catholic King James II in 1690 at the Battle of the Boyne.

Belfast's Protestant neighborhoods were alight with bonfires and crowds were dancing and shouting anti-Catholic slogans when the explosions went off. The crowds scattered in many places and there were some shouts of "It's the IRA" — the outlawed Irish Republican Army — but they later regrouped and the celebrations continued.

On the political front, Jack Lynch, the premier of the Irish Republic to the south, called for the reunification of the North and South. In a speech on the anniversary of the partition of Ireland, he said Britain should announce a timetable for withdrawal of financial and military support for the North.

Northern Irish Premier Brian Faulkner accused Lynch of encouraging terrorism.

ent. If you have any mercy and have any heart return her as quickly as possible.

"I won't press any charges," her mother said. "All I want is Wendy back. Please, I'm begging you, please."

The child was described as being three feet tall, weighing 45 pounds and was wearing a yellow swimsuit when abducted.

Buffalo police asked that they be called with any information about the abduction.

The Chase address was listed as 11 Ritt St.

Cabin Pressure Loss Killed Cosmonauts

MOSCOW (UPI)—Official investigators said today a sudden loss of cabin pressure through a leaky seal killed the three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts only 30 minutes away from touching down on earth after nearly 24 days in space.

The key finding of the report, made public 12 days after the June 30 deaths, was that the cosmonauts were victims of a defect in their ship and had not succumbed to the physical punishment of their record 23-day flight.

A "Report of the Government Commission" only seven sentences long said Georgy Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev performed normally until their descent capsule began its glide toward earth.

"On the ship's descent trajectory, 30 minutes before landing, there occurred a rapid drop of pressure within the descent vehicle which led to the sudden deaths of the cosmonauts," it said.

"The drop in pressure resulted from a loss of the ship's sealing, and an inspection of the descent vehicle ... showed that there are no failures (ruptures) in its structure."

when the descent ship separated from its orbital compartment, making the inner connecting door an outside door.

Although the report did not say so, the sudden loss of air pressure meant that the lives of the spacemen were snuffed out in a vacuum—robbed of oxygen, and their bloodstreams suffused suddenly with air bubbles similar to the fatal "bends" that deep sea divers suffer.

The cosmonauts were not wearing pressurized space suits.

They had set an endurance record of 23 days, 17 hours, 40 minutes and had ushered in the new era of manned Soviet space laboratories by linking their Soyuz with the Salyut stations.

The three men lived aboard the 65-foot-long, 25-ton Salyut for more than three weeks, testing the ability of man's heart and respiratory system to withstand weightlessness more thoroughly than any spacemen before them.
